Most Signs Point To Early Solution Of Korea Impasse

MUNSAN, Korea, Sunday, Aug. 19—(AP)—A United Nations subcommittee flew back to Kaesong today to resume truce talks with Red negotiators whose superiors have shown signs of readiness to break the deadlock.

For the second straight day Saturday the U.N. and Communist junior teams had met in a friendlier atmosphere than any shown when the full delegations wrestled with the impasse.

They sat around a small Korean tea table and studied military maps in their effort to arrive at a solution of the vexing problem of where to place the cease-fire buffer zone.

(Government sources in Washington said the two sides were trying to figure out which line each army thinks it can defend in the general area of the 38th parallel. The space between the two lines then would become the buffer zone).

Muffled words and occasional laughter drifting through the hot, muggy air from the Kaesong conference room indicated that the four-man armistice subcommittee had met again in a spirit of friendly informality.

No Report On Session

There was no official report on the second session of the buffer zone delegates, whose deliberations are closely guarded secrets. The meeting lasted three hours and 28 minutes.

A third session was scheduled for 11 a. m., today (7 p.m., CST, Saturday)—again at Kaesong, 15 miles northwest of this U. N. base camp.

In Munsan, the U.N. command released a statement re-defining the allied position on a buffer zone. It was a summary of points raised by Vice Adm. Turner Joy, chief of the main five-member U. N. armistice delegation, at one of the fulldress truce talks.

Joy firmly rejected the Red demand for a miltary dividing line along parallel 38—the old political boundary—and added:

"International law specifically defines an armistice as a temporary suspension of hostilities, and just as specifically points out that hostilities may be resumed by either side if proper prior notification is given.

"Thus it can be seen that it would definitely be foolhardy, and perhaps disastrous, for either command to expose his forces along a political demarcation line rather than to place them in a sound military defensible position where they can protect themselves in the unfortunate event hostilities should be resumed."

Joy demanded a cease-fire "based on military realities"—along the present battlefront. Most of the frontline is in North Korea.

The Peiping radio quoted North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung as warning:

"If the American aggressors venture to break up the armistice talks at Kaesong and extend the war, they will not only be annihilated on the ground but will also be dealt heavy blows in the air."

The broadcast — official voice of Red China—said Kim made the threat in a speech at Pyongyang, the Korean Communist capital, last Wednesday—sixth anniversary of the liberation of Korea from Japan.

Morse Blasts GOP Report On Ouster

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18—(AP)—Senator Morse (R-Ore) today accused fellow Republican senators of "highly biased and partisan" criticsm of the firing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Morse directed his attack at a report on the MacArthur issue, to be released tomorrow, signed by eight GOP senators. One of the eight, Senator Wiley of Wisconsin, promptly retorted:

"The report will speak for itself. I don't think it's as biased as Senator Morse."

Wiley insisted in an interview thtere was an "historic interval" during which United Nations forces could have followed MacArthur's proposals and won all of Korea, leaving that entire country free and united.

Beats Colleagues To Gun

Beating his GOP colleagues to the gun, Morse issued a statement asserting that President Truman not only was justified in firing MacArthur but would have been "derelict in his duty" if he had not relieved the Pacific commander.

The eight headed by Senator Bridges (R-NH), have signed a report on the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations committees inquiry into the ouster. The report condemns the methods used by the President in discharging MacArthur and criticizes the administration's Far Eastern policies. The group withheld release of their report until tomorrow.

"It is a matter of deep regret to me that Republicans on the joint Armed Services and Foreign Relations committee are releasing their highly partisan and biased report on the MacArthur case," Morse said. "I am satisfied that time will prove that even as a bit of political strategy they are making a great mistake.

Truman Fulfilled Duty

"The record of the MacArthur hearings satisfied me completely that the President was not only justified in recalling him but in view of MacArthur's conduct, it was the President's duty to recall him."

Youth Killed In Car Wreck At Versailles

Glenn Francis, 20-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Francis, of Glensted, was fatally injured in an automobile accident at the south city limits of Versailles near Highway 5, Saturday at 12:15 a. m.

With him in the car at the time were: Ralph Ball, Jack Lizke and a boy reported as named Waddell. None of these were injured.

It was reported that the accident occurred when Francis, who was driving a tudor Plymouth turned a corner on the highway while going too fast. The car went completely over and was damaged considerably.

He had been employed at the Versailles Primo-pants factory.

Funeral services will be held today at 3 p.m. in the Christian church in Versailles with Rev. Freeman officiating.

Burial will be in the Versailles cemetery.

The body is at the Kidwell funeral home in Versailles.

Francis is survived by his parents, one sister, Mrs. Jack Marriott of Kansas City and a brother, James Francis, who is in the army.

Gifts To Widow With Triplets

GENEVA, N. Y., Aug. 18—(AP)—A young widow, who gave birth to triplets, was showered with gifts today.

Mrs. Richard Haight, whose husband died April 12 of a brain tumor, gave birth to three boys last night.

A milk company promised the 28-year-old widow free milk for a year. A bank gave savings bonds for the children, and neighbors sent clothes and money.

The triplets were the first born in this western New York community since 1902.

The smallest boy weighed 3 pounds, 1½ ounces. The others weighed 4 pounds, 7 ounces and 4 pounds, 5 ounces.

Mrs. Haight has no other children.

The Weather

Generally fair Sunday and Monday except a few local thundershowers likely extreme south Sunday; slightly warmer Sunday with highs 85-90.

Hurricane Wrecks Old Jamaican Town

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Aug. 18—(AP)—The old city of Port Royal, a survivor of the 1907 Jamaica earthquake, was wiped out by the tropical hurricane that swept this island last night and today.

Its tumble-down houses were razed by the winds of 120 miles an hour.

Savage Winds Rock Island Of Jamaica

Ten Persons Killed; Damage Runs High In 125-Mile Gale

Near Democrat press time, an Associated Press dispatch from Kingston, Jamaica stated the death toll from the hurricane had risen to more than 50.

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 18—(AP)—Ten persons were killed, thousands made homeless, and damage in the hundreds of thousands of dollars was caused at Kingston, Jamaica, by the tropical hurricane now swirling toward the Gulf of Mexico with 125-mile winds.

The British colonial office at London reported the tentative death toll. It covered only the capital, Kingston, and surrounding area. Communications with other parts of the Island were out.

An airliner of Avianca, Inc., landed briefly at Kingston's Palisades airport an dreported hangars and other installations flattended. The damage estimate was based largely on this destruction at the airport.

"City of Kingston also pretty badly banged up," said the pilot, Capt. G. W. Brocksom.

Several Ships Sink

Several ships were reported sunk at Kingston, a city of 120,000 persons. Reports said voluntary agencies had organized relief measures and were "doing admirable work."

At 5 p. m., the hurricane was reported centered just south of Grand Cayman Island, some 200 miles west of Jamica and 420 miles due south of Key West, Fla. It had slowed its forward pace and was traveling at about 15 miles an hour toward the Yucatan channel between Cuba and Mexico.

Linda Darnell of the movies was on the island, but a mountain range protected her from the worst of the blow. She was on location at Ocho Rios, on the north coast, across the island from hard-hit Kingston.

"Linda may be windblown and soggy, but she ought to be safe," said Grady Norton, chief storm forecaster in the Miami weather bureau.

With the actress is her daughter, Lola, 4, and about 23 other motion picture personnel.

Kingston Silent 18 Hours

Kingston was knocked out of communications with the outside world for 18 hours. As the storm thundered westward, the Cayman Islands fell silent. Requests for special weather reports from there were unanswered after 10 a. m.

Western Cuba and the north coast of the Yucatan peninsula appeared next on the itinerary for the violent storm.

An emergency alert was sounded in Havana by Pres. Carlos Prio Socarras. The alert was precautionary for the Cuban capital, but it included the threatened western tip of the island.

Once in the Gulf of Mexico—and it appeared certain tonight the storm was bound for the gulf—a huge coastline will lie under the hurricane's threat, stretching from Mexico all the way to Florida.

A Pan-American airway plane, carrying radio equipment for restoring communications, and a group of newsmen, was scheduled to take off from Miami for Kingston at 2 a. m. Sunday morning.

Woman Finds Reason For Years Of Pain

SEATTLE Aug. 18—(AP)—Mrs. Esther Pierce 58, said she squeezed a two-inch needle out of her abdomen this morning and believed she had at last found the answer to ten years of constant pain.

40 And 8 Car At State Fair

At the Missouri State Fair this year is an original French box car.

The 40 and 8 painted on the side of the door means that the car will hold 40 men or eight horses. The plaques stand for the provinces of France.

American troops rode to the battle front in cars such as this in both wars. If you think they were comfortable just step inside and imagine yourself and 39 other men with full packs trying to sleep at one time.

The name, LaSociete des 40 Hommes and 8 Chevaux was taken from these cars. The motto is "Fun, Fellowship and The American Legion.

The serious work is the child welfare, nurses training and full support of the progrm of the American Legion.

The reason more room was given for horses than men is that the French figured they could always draft another man but they had to buy the horses.

Italy Decides To Try Pair Accused In Major's Death

ROME, Aug. 18—(AP)—A provincial prosecutor decided today an Italian court will try two former American soldiers—either in person or in absentia—for the behind-the-lines slaying of U. S. Maj. William V. Holohan in 1944.

Aroldo Borghese, general prosecutor of the Turin district, changed an earlier decision and said he would ask for extradition of former Lt. Aldo Icardi of Preakness, N. J., and former Sgt. Carl G. LoDolce of Rochester, N. Y., after further investigations.

"The two Americans, if they are not turned over to the Italian magistracy," Borghese said, "will be tried in absentia."

Absentia Trial Not Binding

A trial in absentia is largely for the record. A person convicted in such a trial is subject to punishment only if he comes to Italy.

In any case, imprisonment is the top penalty. Italy abolished capital punishment for ordinary crimes in 1944 and for political crimes in 1948.

Both Icardi and LoDolce have denied charges of the U. S. Defense department that they got rid of Holohan, their leader on an OSS arms-dropping mission in partisan territory of north Italy behind the German lines, with the help of two Italian partisans.

Holohan was poisoned, shot and dumped into the icy waters of Lake Orta. The department said LoDolce fired the fatal shots in a plot motivated, in part at least, by Holohan's reservations about arming Communist bands among the guerrilla fighters.

US Court Lack Jurisdiction

Both military and civil courts of the United States lack jurisdjction because of legal quirks: (1) Icardi and LoDolce have been discharged honorably from military service (2) the killing occurred on foreign soil.

But the United States seems to be leaving the way open for Italy if she wishes to bring them to trial, as she is doing with two Italians. Former partisans Giuseppe Mannini and Gualtiero Tozzini will go on trial soon for murder. Police say they confessed and implicated the Americans. They have been in jail nearly a year.

276 Youngsters Seek Honors In Fair's Health Contests

The Missouri Division of Health again is sponsoring the Blue Ribbon Baby and Nine-Point Child contests at the Missouri State Fair. The babies entered are examined by physicians and judged on health standards alone.

A total of 104 Nine-Point children and 172 Blue Ribbon Baby entries have been received by the Health office. Entry blanks were sent to the contest committee and appointments were sent by the committee to the parents of the various children.

Dr. Garner In Charge

Dr. L. M. Garner, of Jefferson City, director of Maternal and Child Health for the State Division of Health, is in charge of the contest. Other members of the staff are: Dr. C. W. Meinershagen; Dr. Paul Mallenkradt, dentist; Mrs. Darrell Jenkins; nutrition consultant, Mildred McMillan, nurse; Mrs. William Crucke, secretary, all of Jefferson City; and Mrs. Frances Hamphill, of Sedalia, employed by the local District Health office.

Each doctor on the staff examines a baby every fifteen minutes. Examinations began on Wednesday morning, August 15, and will continue until Tuesday night, August 21.

After the last examination Tuesday the Grand Champion Baby boy and girl will be picked from among those entered. Wednesday morning at 11:00 o'clock Gov. Forrest Smith and Lt. Gov. James Blair will give awards to the winning babies in a ceremony before the grandstand. Awards will also be given to the Nine-Point boy and girl.

Points Considered

Those in the Blue Ribbon baby class between the ages of 12 and 48 months. They are judged on nutrition, dental conditions, nose and throat mental development, immunization against diptheria and smallpox, and regular practice of health habits.

Nine-Point children, those over 48 months old, are judged on nutrition, posture, vision, hearing, teeth, throat, diphtheria immunization and smallpox vaccination.

Kiss Would-Be Holdup Man

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 18—(AP)—A would-be holdup man surrendered to the motherly kiss planted on his brow by a woman grocery store proprietor last night and fled empty handed.

Mrs. Mabel Brill told police a youth about 21 entered her store, brandished a toy pistol and demanded money. She said she told him business was not good and got out the record books to show him a loss of $16 for the month.

Mrs. Brill said she told him to take the few dollars in the cash drawer, but he refused. Then she asked him about his mother and when he made no reply she walked up and kissed him on the forehead.

He fled in a stolen car, found abandoned later.

2 Babies Suffocate In St. Louis Area

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 15—(AP)—Two babies in the St. Louis area suffocated today in identical ways—each was found smothered in a pillow.

Dead were Leonard A. Young, 10 weeks, of St. Louis, and Larry Scott Kirk, 5 weeks, of Belleville, Ill.

Baby Young was found by his mother after she awoke from a nap. Police said the weight of the baby's feeding bottle apparently turned the child's head into the pillow.

Larry, son of Pfc. and Mrs. John Kirk, Ja., was found by his parents early this morning with the infant's head buried in a pillow. The father is stationed at Scott Air Force base.

US Gives-Up Lock And Dam On The Osage

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 18—(AP)—When your youngster outgrows his tricycle, the only thing to do is to give it to some other tyke.

That's what Uncle Sam is trying to do with the dandiest little lock and dam in the entire Missouri river basin—just give it away.

As a matter of fact, it is the only lock and dam in the Missouri basin.

Practical Uncle would like to find somebody who will be able to put a lock and dam to some good use—not of course as a lock and dam because such a gadget on the Osage river is about as out of date now as a pump on the back porch.

But to get back to Osage lock and dam No. 1—the number is superfluous. They never did build No. 2.

Lock Located Near Jeff City

It's located about 12 miles southeast of this capital of Missouri, on the Osage river just a dozen miles upstream from that stream's wedding with the Missouri river.

In the old days the lock and dam played quite a role in helping populate and nourish a big area in Missouri. Barges laden with wheat, cattle, merchandise and fuel struggled upstream or swept down with the current.

There weren't any highways or railroads in the rich bottomland area. The river was the quickest and best highway. So the benevolent federal government built a lock and dam. That helped the barges up and down the swift current in periods of low water. It worked swell.

Railroads Outdate Dam

But progress got in the way. Railroads were built. So were highways. River traffic fell off. Lately, about the only boats that make the passage through the lock are pleasure craft.

But all this time Uncle Sam has ignored the wisecracks of the local boys and kept right on operating the lock and dam.

Grab yourself a barge and start up the Osage. Then tootle your whistle. Right off the lock tender gets set to give you a lift through the lock. It maintains a slick nine foot passage for your craft.

Now that's got to change. Not enough people use the lock. So the only remaining lock tender, Herman "Skinny" Finders, will get a job somewhere else with the army engineers and Uncle Sam will turn loose all but one of the strings by which he has held the lock and dam.

He's offering it to some state or local government agency or some non-profit organization that will, in the words of the army engineers, put it to some "laudable purpose."

No Tavern, Please

That doesn't mean some character can take over the place and start a swank tavern off the beaten track. But if a veterans organization, the Boy Scouts, the State Conservation Commission or Park Board, sees a good use for it they'll get it on a platter.

Bands To Play Each Afternoon At State Fair

A large number of Missouri bands will be at the Missouri State Fair this year to play for the afternoon crowds each day. No bands were scheduled for opening day, Saturday, but three will open the week-long musical schedule today.

The Jefferson City American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps, the Joplin American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps, and the Kansas City American Legion band will fill in today's abbreviated schedule.

Monday's bands: Clever, Harrisonville, Sturgeon, Buffalo; Carthage Band and Drum and Bugle Corps.

Tuesday: Salisbury, Holden, Monett, King City, Shelbina.

Wednesday: Monett, Moberly, Warrenton, Princeton, Lincoln, Lawson, Weaubleau, Breckenridge, Aurora.

Thursday: Aurora, Perry, Ozark, Marshfield, Cole Camp.

Friday: Higginsville, Kingsville and Wheatland.

Other bands will arrive throughout the week and will be given spots in the daily schedule.

Ralph Carrel Rotary Speaker

Ralph Carrel of the Carrel Clinic Laboratory, will give a vocational talk on "The History and Advancement of Chemistry" at the Rotary Club Monday noon at Bothwell hotel.

Dick Snow will serve as program chairman.

Ham Supply Arrives For Fair Breakfast

The Missouri Ham breakfast, rapidly becoming the big social event at the Misosuri State Fair, is to be held Wednesday morning. Secretary of the Treasury, John Snyder will be the principal speaker on the program.

Saturday more than 500 pounds of Missouri cured country hams arrived in Sedalia. These hams, W. E. Preston, secretary-manager of the fair, said have been insured for $5,000. They are being made ready for the breakfast.

The hams already received came from Moniteau, Lafayette, Boone and Cooper counties. They are being prepared by M. D. Weathers of Weathers Drive-In Market, and kept in cold storage there until early Wednesday morning.

US Incomes Hit New High

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18—(AP)—Americans averaged an income of $1,436 for each man, woman and child in 1950, the Commerce department reported today. This was a gain of $116, or 9 per cent, over 1949 and was the highest dollar total in history.

The nine percent rise in average income outstripped the 6.5 percent advance in the cost of living recorded by the bureau of labor statistics for 1950, but a rise in the tax burden cut down the net gain.

The burden of federal, state and local taxes averaged $360 during the 12 months ended June 30, 1950, latest period for which official data is available. The rate boosts made it heavier for calendar 1950.

The bureau of federal, state and local taxes averaged $360 during the 12 months ended June 30, 1950, latest period for which official data is available. The rate boost made it heavier for calendar 1950.

In case your family's income is lower than the "average" of $1,436 per man, woman and child, here's some consolation. The great majority of American families is in the same boat with you.

Statistics can be tricky things, and many mathmaticians would argue that the use of averages in talking about income is misleading.

For example, the average is pulled up by the large incomes of multi-millionaires and others at the top of the economic heap. (Incidentally most of these huge incomes are taken away in income taxes.)

Many economists would rather use "medians" rather than "averages" in discussing income. The median income is the "middle income;" that is, there are as many people above it as below it.

Based On Census Studies

Today's report did not deal in medians. But a report in 1949 based on census studies said that if all the more than 50,000,000 American families were lined up in order of income and then counted off to the middle, that "median" family would have an income of $3,420.

That figure is undoubtedly higher now, but still nothing like $1,436 for each man, woman and child.

The Commerce department arrived at its average by taking total individual income payments and dividing by total population.

Car Races, Horse Show Today's Tops

The Missouri State Fair officially opened its 49th annual exposition Saturday, with an attendance of 20,493 paid customers through the outside gates. It was Children's Day, an added day to the regular state fair schedule of eight days. Unofficially the children on the grounds were estimated at 9,500, those under 12 being admitted free.

Throughout the day many children, after getting on the grounds, left their parents and started their own tour of inspection ending with a visit to the midway of the Cetlin and Wilson Shows; many crowded the stands to see the motorcycle races.

Today is Veterans and Armed Forces Day at the fair. Veterans organizations anticipate large delegations of veterans of former wars and many men who are in the armed services. Members of the armed forces in Ft. Leonard Wood, and Air Force students at Warrensburg have indicated their intentions of being on hand to see the fair and "look over the old vets."

Holland To Drive

Big car racing will be the feature on the daytime program in front of the grandstand. Some 25-big time racing cars have been entered in the annual "first Sunday" program. Big time names in the racing business appear on the program included among them being Frankie Luptow, Tampa, Fla., and the one-time winner of the Indianapolis "500" Bill Holland of Reading, Pa.

At the fair today will be Drum and Bugle corps from the American Legion Posts at Jefferson City and Joplin while from Kansas City the American Legion Band, will be on hand. These musical units are giving a preview before going to the state convention of the American Legion at St. Louis the first of September.

Finest Horses Here

Tonight before the grandstand and again on Monday the State Fair Horse Show will be held. Some of the finest show horses in the country have been entered and can be seen at the five-night program show. The show will move from in front of the grandstand to the coliseum on Tuesday night where it will be held the remainder of the week.

The midway of the Cetlin and Wilson World on Parade Shows offer some extra ordinary entertainment for the entire family. As described by the owners it is for the child of one year up to the adult of 100.

Tom Moore Opens Monday

Monday will be Radio and TV Day at the fair. At this time many owners, operators and employees of Missouri Radio and TV stations will be visitors at the fair. It will be the day when Tom Moore will open his "Ladies Fair" radio program to be given two days.

The Grand Circuit harness horse races opens Monday afternoon when the finest in harness horses will be seen in action.

W. E. Preston, secretary-manager of the fair, Saturday night stated he was well-pleased with the opening day. "We didn't expect such a turnout for Saturday. Saturday at the fair I was told would attract many people, but the extra day proved much better than I had anticipated and I am very grateful as is Robert Thornburg, commissioner of agriculture."

The Missouri fair for years has been an eight-day exposition and opening on Saturday this year made it a nine-day program.

Several thousand exhibits are in the various departments. The exhibits are better than they have been in many years past, and all are attracting the fair-going fan. Superintendents of the various departments predict more visitors to their exhibits than usual.

Secretary Preston, stated Saturday night, the large opening day has put the fair into a position where it is preparing to handle a record-breaking Sunday crowd. "We expect 75,000 to 100,000 on the grounds Sunday," Preston said.

Monday will see bands from five high schools on parade. The following high schools have notified the fair they would arrive early in the day and give concerts on the grounds. Bands will be those from Clever, Harrisonville, Sturgeon, Buffalo while Carthage sends a band and the drum and bugle corps.

The fireworks displays are featured every night following the shows in front of the grandstand. These displays are presented by Thearle-Duffield Fireworks Inc., of Chicago, Ill.

Oscar Hug, Kansas City, former Sedalian, and employee of the Sedalia Democrat-Capital, is playing with the State Fair band. Hug is well known in Sedalia, as

An Old-Time Attraction Still A Favorite

The organ grinder and his monkey, something which in entertainment is almost extinct, is showing at the Missouri State Fair this year. John Fiorella, Chicago, and his monkey Josephine, better known as "Jo" are visitors this year. "Jo" is seen entertaining a group of fair-goers in front of the Administration building on the fair grounds, Saturday afternoon. "Jo" is a 3½-year-old ring tail monkey with some mighty fine "entertaining education." It didn't take long for the children to make up with the monkey. "Jo" was already anxious to make friends so she could collect the nickles and pennies the children and adults too had to offer. (Official State Fair Photo by Speidel Photo Service).

'Grandma' Is A True Pal To The Kiddies

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK, Aug. 18—(AP)—The old lady butted the screen door open with the prow of her wheel chair and rolled herself out onto the porch of the small suburban home.

"What a beautiful sunset!" she said aloud, although no one else was on the porch. Contentedly, she sat and watched a great blue cloud sail down a sky road of red.

The screen door opened again and a small blonde-haired girl toddler out, clutching a paper doll and some cut-out dresses.

"I followed you out, grandma," she said. "What are you doing?"

"Just watching the dark come down, dear. See that big cloud. Doesn't it look like a ship? You can even see the sails."

The little girl studied the sky gravely, then shook her head.

"Those aren't sails, grandma, they're feathers," she said. "It looks like a big old hen."

Grandma smiled and said, "no, a ship!"

"No, a hen!"

"Ship!"

"Hen! Hen! Hen!" chanted the small girl.

Grandma picked up a rubber-tipped cane and tounched her gently in the ribs. She caught hold of it. And the child and the old lady pulled the cane back and forth, laughing.

Again the screen door opened and a small boy, older than the little girl, came out.

"What are you laughing at?" he demanded.

"Sister and I are playing tug-of-war," said Grandma. "Do you want to play?"

"That's baby stuff," he said. He walked over to the paper doll, lying on the porch, and kicked it.

"That's baby stuff, too," he said. The little girl picked up the doll and ran into the house, crying.

"Jimmy, you know you shouldn't do that," said gradma. "Please don't be mad."

"Well, where's mom and dad? I'm hungry."

"They went over to the neighbors for a few minutes to a party. They'll be right back."

Jimmy stood defensively aloof for a few moments then climbed silently and moodily into her lap.

"That's better," she said, although his weight hurt her.

He reached up a hand and idly stroked her cheek.

"Your face is getting awful old and crunchy, grandma," he said. "I guess you won't live long, will you?"

"Not too long, dear," smiled grandma.

"Will I ever get as old as you?"

"I hope so, Jimmy boy."

"I don't. I wouldn't like going around in an old wheelchair. You know what dad said?"

"No, dear, what did he say?"

"He said you'd probably hang on forever. And mama said he shouldn't talk like that. Should he grandma."

"Well—"

"After you die, grandma, can I pick me out another grandma to have?"

"I guess so, Jimmy," said the old lady, leaning back in the wheelchair. "What kind would you pick?"

"I'd pick one that walked at least," he said, "and she wouldn't be so wrinkly."

There was a long silence. Jimmy reached up his hand again to feel her face. When he drew back his fingers, they were wet.

"Why are you crying, grandma?" he said.

"Child, child!" she said, holding him tight against her heart.

It was getting dark on the porch.

Named Administratrix

Letters of Administration were filed in the Probate court Saturday morning in the estate of R. J. Lierman, who died in February of 1951. His widow Mrs. Minnie Lierman was named administratrix.

Named as heirs in the letters were: Minnie Lierman, widow, of Sedalia and William W. Lierman, son, of Springfield.

Attorney for the estate is Miss Hazel Palmer.

Found Not Guilty

Robert Crockett, of Boonville, was found not guilty on a charge of non-support of minor children in the Magistrate court Saturday morning.

His attorney was Robert Wesner.

Couple Wed August Fifth

Miss Shirley Anne Brownfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Brownfield, 317 East Boonville, became the bride of Sgt. Allen L. Hawkins, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Hawkins, Sr., 311 East Jackson, on August 5 at 2:00 p.m. at the home of her sister, Mrs. Norman Bottcher, 319 East Chestnut with the Rev. Ralph E. Hurd, pastor of the Epworth Methodist church reading the single ring ceremony under an arch that was surrounded with pink and yellow gladioli.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a street-length dress of navy blue sheer with accessories to match. Her bouquet was of white astors entwined with white satin ribbon and lace. She wore a headdress of white stephanotis.

Her only attendant, Miss Anita Jo Bottcher, wore a street-length dress of yellow silk and carried yellow gladioli entwined with yellow satin ribbon and lace. Her headdress also was of white stephanotis.

The bridegroom's only attendant was his brother, Mr. Robert L. Hawkins.

Mother's of the bride and bridegroom wore dresses of blue sheer with matching corsages of rubrum lilies.

Following the ceremony a reception was held from 3 to 5 p.m. The three-tired wedding cake and punch was served to a hundred guests.

Sgt. and Mrs. Hawkins left August 14 for Oceanside, Calif. to reside where he is stationed at Marine Barracks, Camp Pendleton.

Marriage Is Announced

Mr. Richard Tevis, 1614 New Jersey, Kansas City, Kas., announces the marriage of his daughter, Miss LeVerne Tevis, to R. M. S. A. Duane Waite, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Waite, Jappa, Ill., formerly of Houstonia.

The double ring ceremony was read at the London Heights Baptist church, Kansas City, Kas., at 5 p. m. Saturday, July 7, by the Rev. William Johnson.

Attending the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Kreisel. Mrs. Kreisel is a sister of the bridegroom.

The bride wore a street length dress of pink and navy linen with navy accessories and a pearl necklace. Her corsage was of white roses.

Mr. Waite has returned to Norfolk Va., where he will board the USS Orion. Mrs. Waite joined him there August 12.

The bride and bridegroom are both graduates of the Houstonia high school. The bride attended the Central Business college, Sedalia, and has been employed in Kansas City.

The bridegroom attended the Railroad Communication's school in Kansas City and was employed by the Missouri Pacific railroad before entering the service in December 1950.

On Sunday evening, July 8, a wedding dinner was given by the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Buchholz, 1106 South Massachusetts.

Those attending were the bride's father, Mr. Richard Tevis, Kansas City, Kas., her grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Silas Tevis, Houstonia, the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Waite, Pappa, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Kreisel, Houstonia.

Church News

The Dorcas Circle of the Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed church met August 16 at the home of Mrs. A. J. Witthaus, route 5, with Mrs. R. H. Hill assisting hostess.

A covered dish luncheon was served to 12 members, one child and the following guests, Mrs. R. H. Sheffield, Mrs. J. B. Tevis, Miss Ardean Williams and Miss Dorothy Perkins.

During the business meeting it was voted to give $10.00 to Red Cross for the flood relief.

The circle adopted a boy from the Missouri State Training school and will remember him with gifts at Christmas and other holidays and on his birthday anniversary.

The afternoon was spent in playing games.

The next meeting will be held on September 20 with Mrs. Ray Strain as hostess, with Mrs. R. R. Ramlow and Mrs. Louise Strain assisting.

Medieval Splendor Surrounds Burial Of William R. Hearst

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18—(AP)—Publisher William Randolph Hearst was entombed Friday after solemn funeral rites of almost medieval splendor.

His bronze casket was covered with a royal purple pall, with golden tapestry in the form of a cross, during the services in stately Grace Cathedral on the crest of Nob Hill.

The church was crowded to its capacity of 1,500 persons, with another 500 standing outside.

Light, as soft as the gray of the cathedral walls, filtered down from the blue, red and gold-stained windows high above the mourners.

It cast an almost phosphorescent glow upon thousands of banked orchids, chrysanthemums, roses and many other kinds of blooms.

300 Floral Offerings Sent

There were more than 300 floral offerings, one of the most spectacular being an American flag, of red and white carnations, and white gardenias and blue daisies, sent by the San Francisco Examiner.

The casket, placed at the head of the chancel steps, was flanked by 26-foot crosses of white lilies.

The black-garbed widow, Mrs. Millicent Willson Hearst, entered the church on the arms of two of her five sons, George and William Randolph, Jr., the other three sons, John, Randolph and David, accompanied by their wives, followed closely behind.

The Rt. Rev. Karl Morgan Block, Episcopal bishop of California, intoned the Episcopal order for the burial of the dead. . . "I am the resurrection and the life, saith the Lord. . ."

He was assisted by the Very Rev. Bernard M. Lovgren, dean of the cathedral.

Gov. Warren A Pallbearer

The honorary pallbearers named by the Hearst family included Gov. Earl Warren of Califrnia, Mayor Elmer E. Robinson of San Francisco, and notables from the worlds of government, finance and newspaperdom.

Twenty-two motorcycle police formed a calvacade and escorted the funeral procession on the slow journey to Cypress Lawn cemetery.

There, the body of the famed publisher, who died Tuesday at the age of 88, was placed beside the bodies of his parents—U. S. Senator George Hearst and Mrs. Phoebe Apperson Hearst.

Thousands Get An Early Look Of State Fair

If Friday night was a preview of the crowds that will attend the 49th edition of the Missouri State Fair, W. E. "Bill" Preston, secretary of the fair, will be a happy man.

Thousands of persons tramped up and down the quarter-mile midway. Some were spending freely while others were there just to get an early look.

The principal streets leading to the grounds were jammed with traffic moving both directions.

Inside the fairgrounds, the majority of the eating establishments were open and doing a thriving business. The state exhibits were not open Friday night.

For an idea of the throng that was at the Celtin and Wilson World on Parade Shows Friday night, the number of cars can be an example. At 8:00 p.m., by the main gate, cars were parked along the curbing. This continued on every street in the grounds until the south side of the fair was in sight.

Paul Kehl Dismissed From Mercy Hospital

Paul Kehl, 7½ year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kehl, Sedalia, was dismissed from the Children's Mercy hospital, in Kansas City, after having orthopedic treatment since October 21, 1950. Paul was promoted to the third grade in the hospital school. Teachers are provided by the Kansas City board of education.

Rustlers Reported At Cassville, Mo.

CASSVILLE, Mo., Aug 18—(AP)—About 30 head of herefords and two aberdeen angus cattle recently were stolen from the Neal Polk farm.

Other farmers have reported losses of two or three head of cattle. The modern rustlers haul the animals away in trucks.

Europe Pantry Be Better Filled

By Tom Ochiltree

LONDON, Aug. 18 — (AP) — Europe's pantry in the autumn will be better stocked than at any time since the war.

A survey showed today that harvests generally are good; no country west of the Iron Curtain has had a disastrous growing season. In food-pinched Spain and Yugoslavia the prospects are exceptionally favorable.

As near as can be judged from the trickle of information available from there, Eastern Europe also expects to have good food stocks. Only Czechoslovakia shows marked doubts about the harvest. Whether conditions have hindered reaping and threshing there. Moscow broadcasts say southern regions of the Soviet Union are turning in particularly heavy yields. These are the Russian areas first harvested.

France's prospects probably are the most disappointing in Western Europe. Britain's yield, due to a wet winter and cold spring, will not be up to early hopes. It still will show a sizable increase over prewar levels.

Good harvests can be expected to have a calming tendency on European politics. This will be particularly true this time if the yields are reflected in lower prices to consumers.

Harry Dexheimer Continues To Improve

The condition of Harry Dexheimer, who underwent an operation at the Research hospital in Kansas City Thursday morning is somewhat improved.

Mr. Dexheimer was critically injured by a baling machine at the farm of his son, Melvin Dexheimer, Route 3 on August 6th. He was taken to Kansas City to the Research hospital last Friday night.

The Spratley Islands are located in the South China Sea.

Troubles Too To 'Know All'

By Mark Barron

NEW YORK, Aug. 18—(AP)—Being a quizmaster is a desperate profession, if you listen to some of the headaches of comedian Phil Baker.

For many years Baker has been a star in Broadway musicals, and, in his numerous experiences as master of ceremonies at the historic Palace Vaudeville theater, he has exchanged quips with Jack Benny, Fred Allen and other alert professional guys with the gift of gab.

But, he admits, those were easy chores compared to the problems he has now with his "$64 guestion" program on his Sunday night NBC broadcasts where he has to compete with guest amateurs in his tests for wisdom.

"I'm not a genius as some of my constestants seem to think," Baker said, "and I'm not an authority on every subject from ancient Tibetan culture to the atom bomb.

"The only reason I know the answers to the $64 question is, frankly, because I have a card in my hand which gives me the answer during each broadcast."

Sometimes his reputation for knowing everything gets him into trouble. The other night he was stopped outside the studios by a gigantic lady built along the lines of Man Mountain Dean.

"Mr. Baker" she asked, "when do you think the Korean war will be finished."

"I don't know," he answered. "Why don't you ask the State Department?"

The disappointed and angry lady swung her purse and cracked Baker across the head. And she didn't say "please."

Another problem that has troubled Baker and all question-and-answer maestros is how to handle the contestant who's not quite sure who's buried in Grant' tomb.

"If I give a clue, then the hint must be very subtle or the listening audience would resent it. Because every listener at home tells himself that he could be up there with me earning that $64."

One of Phil's most embarrassing moments in show business happened when a young lady didn't want to answer a question because he tried to give her too much help. She was a young school teacher from Atlanta, Ga., who was in New York for a visit. She had won $32 and was trying for the $64 question. And when it appeared she was stumped by the final query, gallant man Baker tossed out a few clues. But the young lady from Georgia, spurning any help, turned from the microphone and said "if I can't earn the money on my own, I don't deserve it."

Baker commented that the young lady from Georgia is the one who shut him up from asking any more questions.

Raising Reward In Murder Case

EUREKA, Mo., Aug. 18—(AP)—The American Legion post here is raising a reward fund in an effort to help track down the killer of Mrs. Lillian Null, who was found beaten to death behind her home here Aug. 8.

The Legionnaires began distributing posters today in the business district asking contributions for the reward fund. A Legion official said the post hopes to raise $1,000 to be offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayer.

Urban Rock, vice commander of the post, said many men in this St. Louis county community are afraid to leave their families alone at night.

No motive has been established for the slaying.

Prosecutor Files 218 Criminal Cases

Since Jan. 3, 1951, 218 criminal cases have been filed in the Magistrate Court of Judge W. W. Blain by Prosecuting Attorney, Mike Bogutski.

Of the 218 cases filed, a Nolle Pros was asked on 33 of the cases or they were dropped from the docket. Thirty of the cases were transferred to the Circuit Clerk's office for trial in the Circuit Court of Judge Dimmitt Hoffman.

Judge Blain has sentenced five men to short terms in the county jail. The larger jail sentences were transferred to the Circuit Court.

A total of $3,128 has been levied in fines. Actually, more than that was levied, but on several cases the court re-considered and reduced the fine. The $3,128 given in fines represents 104 cases. The largest fine assessed to date has been $125.

The money obtained from fines in the Magistrate Court is turned over to Frank Wagner, county treasurer. There most of it is distributed to schools.

Jailed For Vagrancy

George Franklin Pirtle, Bolivar, Tenn., picked up by the police early Saturday morning, was charged with vagrancy and given ten days in the city jail.

Revived After Heart Stops

GREENSBORO, N. S., Aug 18—(AP)—A 60-year old woman was revived at a Greensboro hospital Wednesday 29 minutes after her heart stopped beating, her physicians said.

The attending physician and another surgeon started massaging the woman's heart a minute and a half after it stopped beating and continued for 27 ½ minutes until the organ started functioning again.

Names of the patient and the doctors all were withheld. The woman's doctor reported that she was in fairly good condition last night, with blood pressure and circulation about normal.

The woman was being prepared for a hernia operation when her heart stopped beating. She had suffered a heart attack some time ago.

The two doctors cut into the patient's chest, exposing the heart, and then began the massaging operation. They also injected stimulants directly into the organ.

things like dividends, interest, landlord's incomes, profits of owners of unincorporated business, etc., as well as wages and salaries.

The Commerce department said average incomes ranged from $698 in Mississippi to $1,909 in Delaware and $1,983 in the District of Columbia, stronghold of the federal government.

Near the bottom were Arkansas, $825; South Carolina $831, and Alabama 836. Near the top were Nevada $1,875; New York $1,864, and Connecticut $1,766.

The total flow of income to individauls over the nation was a record $217,000,000,000. That was a gain of 11 per cent over 1949. The increase in the average income was less because of the gain in the population.

By regions, the largest relative gains were scored by the agricultural northwest and southeast, 14 and 12 per cent, respectively. The central and far west regions matched the national average with an 11 percent rise. New England and the middle east scored a ten percent gain. The southwest, top gained of 1949, had the smallest gain in 1950, eight percent.

The average income for the states in 1950, besides those previously shown, was given as including:

Oklahoma $1,070; Texas $1,278; Illinois $1,752; Missouri $1,401; Kansas $1,338.

Army Doctors Test New Malaria Cure

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18—(AP)—The Army disclosed today that it is testing a new drug which may make it possible to cure Malaria so fast that the victim will recover from the disease before he knows he has it.

Extensive tests already conducted in this country and in Korea indicate that the drug, known as primaquine, may be a far more effective treatment for malaria than any drug now in use, said Maj. Gen. George E. Armstrong, Army surgeon general.

Armstrong added, however, that further research is necessary to see if primaquine will prove as effective against the type of malaria found in Korea as it has against experimental types.

Troops in Korea have been given regular treatment with another drug, chloroquine, which supresses malaria but does not cure it. A new phase of the program calls for giving primaquine to several hundred of these men on their way to the U. S.

Reds Execute 'Hired' Killers

HONG HONG, Sunday, Aug. 19—(AP)—The Chinese Reds, in a deadly extension of their anti-foreign campaign, announced today the quick execution of an Italian and a Japanese convicted of being hired by the United States to assassinate Mao Tze-Tung, Communist chairman.

The U. S. State department has denounced the Red allegations as "completely and knowingly false" and a "bare-faced lie."

The Peiping radio said Antonio Riva, 55, Italian merchant, and Rinichi Yamaguchi, 47, a Japanese bookseller, were executed in Peiping at 5 p. m., Friday.

It did not say how, but reported that en route to the execution ground, "the streets they passed through were thronged with people who expressed their feelings at their criminal activities with shouts of 'down with imperialism,' 'suppress counter-revolutionaries,' 'long live the people's republic of China,' and 'long live chairman Mao Tze-Tung.'"

Car Reported Stolen

Herschell Huddleston of Kansas City reported to the police about 8:30 p. m. Saturday that his car had been stolen from Lamine and the Mo-Pac tracks.

Dance Given At KC Hall

Misses Carol Mettler and Beverly Couhig were hostesses to a dance given Saturday night August 11 at the K. of C. hall.

The decorations were carried out in the color scheme of the American Beauty and white crepe streamers were gathered at the center and tied by two large candy canes and a bow of the same color.

Refreshments of punch and cookies were served. Those who assisted were Mrs. William B. Couhig and Mrs. William L. Couhig, Mrs. Agnes White and Mrs. A. K. Downs.

There were approximately 45 present.

Music was furnished by Tommy Adams and his orchestra.

James A. Garfield was the shortest-lived of all presidents of the United States. He died at 49, victim of an assassin.

Five Hurt In Accident On West 50

Five persons were injured, three seriously, in a head-on collision of two automobiles about three-fourths of a mile east of the Highway 50-La Monte junction. The accident occurred about 1:30 p. m. Saturday.

James David Wax, 18, Warrensburg, is suffering from a concussion, a fractured right arm, broken nose, possible fracture of the jaw, and possible internal injuries. Was was in a semi-conscious condition and suffered severe shock.

Elvin Mauzey, 16, Knob Noster, suffered a cut on the head, severe bruises and shock.

William Elliott, 16, 3504 Eastern Ave., Kansas City, suffered a severe injury to his left arm when the muscles, ligaments and tendons were damaged. He also suffered shock.

Louis R. Shepherd, 21, 3504 Eastern Ave., Kansas City, driver of one car had numerous bruises and abrasions about his face and head.

George Snell, 49, Mokane, driver of the other car, received a neck injury and was dismissed from the hospital after examination.

Injured Treated Here

The injured were brought to Sedalia in the Parker ambulance from LaMonte and taken to the Bothwell hospital where Dr. John E. Lamy and Dr. Karl B. Gonser rendered medical attention.

The accident occured, according to Shepherd who told a newspaper reporter, when he started to pass a panel truck. Shepherd said he pulled out and it was too late to pull back behind the truck. "I started to go to the ditch, but Elliott evidently reached over and jerked the wheel causing the car to swerve back in front of the other car and that's all I know what happened."

Shepherd was driving a 1941 Studebaker five-passenger coupe, which was described as "flopping around" but never turned over. Shepherd was thrown from the car.

Cars Badly Damaged

Snell was driving a 1949 Kaiser sedan and was headed east, while Shepherd was driving west at the time of the accident. The Studebaker sedan was demolished while several hundred dollars damages resulted to the right front portion of the Kaiser.

The panel truck, owned by the Dillon bakery, was driven by R. M. Dillon, Jr., 810 South Barrett. According to the State Patrol Dillon reported to them he saw the car pull out to pass and seeing an accident might happen pulled to the right shoulder to see if it couldn't be avoided. The truck did not figure in the collision.

State Troopers F. E. Barnes and E. T. Gillilland, investigated the accident.

2 Drivers Bookd After A Collision

A 1949 Ford sedan, Yellow Cab, driven by George C. Nold, 22, 1419 North Osage collided with a 1950 Chevrolet panel truck driven by M. L. Shaw, 55, of Green Ridge Saturday about 5:03 p. m. at the intersection of Sixth and Massachusetts.

Both cars received damages to the left front fender, the hood, grill and headlights.

Nold and Shaw were charged with careless and reckless driving and posted $25.00 cash bond to appear before Police Judge Jerry Trotter Monday morning.

The cars were towed from the scene of the accident by the Chamberlin wrecker.

During the course of the evening congratulatory messages from E. W. Tucker, district, Lester Seacat, fromer lieutenant governor, were read; the club was presented with a 30-pound birthday cake, in blue and gold, a gift of the Sedalia and Boonville clubs.

Seventeen Kiwanians and their wives attended from Sedalia.

Holds Strikers Be Reinstated

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18—(AP)—A National Labor Relations Board trail examiner has recommended that the firms constructing Bull Shoals Dam in Arkansas reinstate about 143 union strikers who left their jobs Dec. 3, 1948.

David F. Doyle, before whom a hearing was held April 3-14, 1951, at Mountain Home, Ark., held that the Ozark Dam constructors and the Flippin Material Company, engaged in unfair labor practices.

The strikers, members of the AFL Fort Smith, Little Rock and Springfield (Mo.) joint council, walked off their jobs on the ground that the contractor refused to bargain collectively after the council had been recognized by the NLRB as a bargaining agent for the project.

The striking union accused the construction company with failure to bargain in good faith. It also contended management had made statements, threats and warnings which interfered with employes attempting to bargain collectively.

Examiner Doyle, in holding for the union, recommended that each of the 143 strikers be paid wages lost between Dec. 14, 1949, and the time that Ozark Flippin reinstates them.

The trial examiner also recommended that the company be ordered to cease discouraging membership in labor unions, refusing to reinstate employes for engaging in a strike or concerted activities protected by law and interfering in any other manner with its employes' efforts to join or organize labor organizations.

The recommendation by Doyle will become the National Labor Relations Board order if it is not protested by either of the two parties. If there is a protest, his holdings will be subject to review by the full board.

Escaped Monkey Rough On Dogs In St. Joseph

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Aug. 18—(AP)—An onion-loving ringtail monkey is on the loose and is making it rough on his dog associates.

Jackie, the 11-year-old monk, is stealing their food.

Jackie escaped from his cage at the private zoo of Mrs. Lillian Swails, who has a rural home east of St. Joseph.

Traps have been set for him when he returned to steal the food of the Swails' dogs, but he has avoided them cleverly.

Mrs. Swails said onions might lead to the monkey's downfall.

"He's crazy about them," she said. "He used to throw his food pan into the air lots of times when he sniffed it and discovered it didn't contain onions."

The owner said would-be captors shouldn't get too close to Jackie's head—not on account of his breath but because he's a ready, rugged biter.

Two Cars Damaged In Saturday Wreck

A collision between a 1937 Ford coupe driven by Virgil Gordy, 42, of 715 East Fourth and a 1948 Chevrolet sedan driven by Ira Smith, 612 West Fourth occurred about 6:04 p.m. Saturday at the intersection of Third and Lamine.

The Ford received damages to the left front fender and the Chevrolet was damaged on the right front fender and bumper.

The accident was investigated by police officers Gardner and Wagner.

"Crusade On Crime Has Only Begun"

Senator Wiley For Permanent Inquiry Body

By Edwin B. Haakinson

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18—(AP)—A permanent Senate crime investigating committee was proposed today by Senator Wiley (R-Wis), a member of the special crime committee that expires September 1.

"The crusade against crime has only begun; it cannot be allowed to die," Wiley said.

He proposed that the Senate interstate commerce committee or a sub-group take over and carry on the sensational investigation handled for 16 months by the special committee under leadership of Senators Kefauver (D-Tenn) and O'Conor (D-Md).

Such a group could hunt down criminals and key witnesses who have been hiding out to avoid testimony before the expiring committee, Wiley said.

Suggestions Made

In a letter to chairman Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo) of the Commerce committee, Wiley suggested these three "assignments" for future crime inquiries:

1. "The incredibly odorous situation along the New York-New Jersey waterfront x x x where organized piracy exists on a scale that would make Captain Kidd green with envy, where all the evils of narcotics traffic, labor union violence, policy rackets, and other crimes abound."

2. "The current gangster effort being made to invade the teamsters union in Chicago. x x x There have been a series of outrageous bombings, beatings and murders in Chicago teamster circles which have indicated that there is being attempted a repetition of the Capone mob muscling into unions of the 1920's."

3. "A complete probe of interstate angles of crime in the District of Columbia" including testimony about high profitable "numbers operations."

Wiley pointed out that in a relative brief time, the Senate crime investigators have turned up much that state and local officials had failed to find or act upon.

He said the field of organized interstate gambling had been pretty well exposed, but the special crime committee's files contain "literally treasurers of information which can be used down through the years in supplementing the work of federal, state and local law inforcement officers."

"It would be a pity if those files were simply to gather dust in some Senate attic," he said.

"We have learned that the threat of a federal investigation has been enough to really worry the nation's top criminals who invariably have been unafraid of state and local probes."

Even so, Wiley said that leaders of the largest crime syndicates "have generally remained immune from prosecution."

"We have still barely 'cracked' these topmost individuals, men of the character of Frank Costello, Joe Adonis etc." the Senator said.

Chairman Johnson said he had received Wiley's proposal but wanted to talk it over with members of the interstate commerce committee before commenting.

Flood Damage At $42,000,000

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 18—(AP)—July floods along the Neosho-Grand, Cottonwood and Verdigris rivers in eastern Kansas and Oklahoma caused record damages totaling $42,000,000, U. S. river forecaster P. R. Jones estimated today.

Destruction — based on reports from observers, county engineers and farm agents—was four times greater than ever before.

Jones said the floods claimed nine lives, spilled over more than 400,000 acres of land and damaged more than 2,600 homes.

"We believe this is a conservative estimate of the havoc," Jones declared. "If anything, it's well on the low side."

The U. S. district engineer's office here, with survey teams in the field, has yet to report its estimate.

In the Neosho-Cottonwood Valleys of Kansas alone, 300,000 acres were flooded and 2,500 homes damaged at a cost of $39,000,000 Jones estimated.

Verdigris basin losses were believed to reach well over $3,000,000; and along the Neosho-Grand in Ottawa county, Okla., $5,500,000.

A fourth stream in Oklahoma, the Chikaskia river, caused losses of more than $3,000,000, mostly in Kay county. The Freshet covered 80,000 acres, 284 city homes and 600 farm houses.

Red Jets Lose Big Air Scrap

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Sunday, Aug. 19—(AP)—Scores of U. S. and Red jet fighters fought two flashing air battles hign over northwest Korea Saturday.

On the eastern front, allied ground troops waged their sharpest actions since July 10 when the truce talks began.

They were aided by the heaviest one-point artillery barrage of the war and the massed fire of the battleship New Jersey, the cruiser Toledo and two destroyers.

The air fights swirled six miles over Sinuiju, near the Yalu river boundary of Manchuria. In all, 111 jets tangled. One Red jet was reported probably destroyed, another damaged. All the U. S. jets returned safely.

The flaming ground actions broke out at scattered points from northwest of Yanggu to the east coast. Eighth Army officer said allied units attacked Communist hill positions but were limited to specific goals.

The fighting was continuing, they added. It was so bitter that hill masses changed hands as much as four times during the day.

In Tokyo, the Far East Air Forces said allied planes destroyed more than 1,150 Communist vehicles last week. Three Fifth Air Force planes were lost to ground fire. Two of the pilots were rescued. The FEAF flew more than 5,100 missions last week.

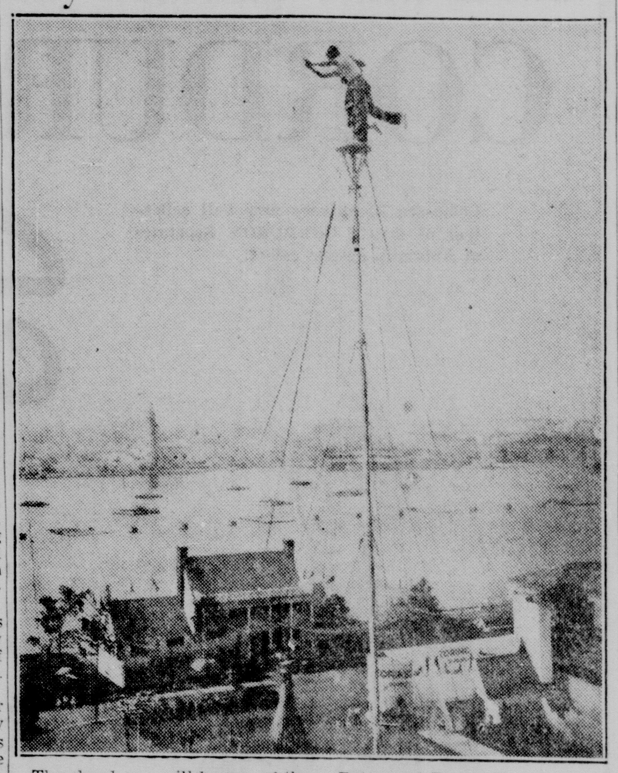
Sky Dancers Thrill Crowds



The sky dance will be one of the breath taking acts in front of the grandstand this year when Betty and Benny Fox dance on the world's smallest dance floor, a disc only 18 inches in diameter 125 feet above the ground.

Betty and Benny Fox do an incredible number of stunts and steps on their dance floor in the sky which includes waltzes, rumbas, jitterbugging, adagio and acrobatic dances. Betty also will do rope skipping.

The use of gloves was known even in the prehistoric cave dwellers, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Married In Lebanon

At a formal wedding in the First Baptist church in Lebanon Sunday afternoon August 5, at 2 o'clock, Miss Roma Anne Lambeth became the bride of William Dudley Marshall, the Rev. John L. Phillips officiating in the double ring ceremony.

It was a candlelight ceremony and the alter was flanked on either side by tall tapers in seven branched candelabra with baskets of pink, yellow, and white gladioli, the colors of the attendants dresses.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Lynn West, played the traditional bridal music and Mrs. T. J. Shadel, who wore a gray gown sang "Because" and "Always."

The bride was escorted to the alter by her father, Jesse Lambeth, who gave her in marriage. She was preceded by her maid of honor, Miss Betty Elmore, a cousin of the bride; two bridesmaids, Miss Anna Sue Brown and Miss Betty Grace Renfro, both of Clinton, Mo.; and the flower girl, Carolyn Hough.

Mr. J. C. Marshall of Windsor served his brother as best man and the ushers were Mr. Joe Marshall, a cousin of the bridegroom and Mr. Charles Robinson, a fraternity brother of the bridegroom, both being from Windsor.

The bride wore a wedding gown of white nylon and imported Chantilly lace over satin. The tight-fitting bodice had covered buttons up the front. The top of the bodice having lace scallops and long pointed finger tip lace sleeves, held a full floor length skirt, with three tier of lace down the back of the gown. A coronet of French lace set with rhinestones held the misty nylon illusion fingertip veil. Her bouquet was a cluster of long-stemmed red rose.

The maid of honor wore a nile green gown of organdy over the rayon taffeta.

The two bridesmaids wore identical gowns of pink and yellow organdy over taffeta. Each of the attendants wore short black net mitts with matching ribboned veils.

The flower girl wore a white organdy floor length dress and carried a basket filled with rose petals.

Mrs. Lambeth chose for her daughter's wedding a gray crepe dress with black and white accessories. Mrs. Marshall, mother of the bridegroom wore a sheer black dress with white accessories. Both wore red rosebud corsages.

After the ceremony the reception was held in the church dining room, where the wedding party and the parents of the bride and bridegroom received the guests.

The serving table, covered with a lace cloth, had as a centerpiece a three tiered wedding cake topped with a minature bride and bridegroom. The cake was encircled by a wreath of gladioli, while on either side were crystal candles held in 18 karet gold holders. Throughout the receiving hours, cake, punch, crunches, nuts, and mints, were served by Mrs. A. E. Hartzog and Mrs. Raymond Willard.

Miss Myrna Loy Harrison, assisted by Mrs. Roy Garrison, presided over the guest book.

The bride's going away attire was a white suit with black accessories. She wore a red rosebud corsage. Mr. and Mrs. Marshall left on a short honeymoon trip and will later return to their home at 3525 Park Ave., Kansas City, Mo.

Mrs. Marshall is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse R. Lambeth of Lebanon, route 4. She is a graduate of Stoutland high school and has been attending Central Missouri State college at Warrensburg, Mo., for the past two years.

Mr. Marshall is the older son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Marshall of Windsor, Mo. He is a graduate of Windsor high school, later attending Kirksville State college and graduating at CMSC, Warrensburg, in 1949. He is a member of the Iota Chapter of Phi Sigma Epsiion. Since receiving his degree in '49, Mr. Marshall has been employed by General Motor corporation in Kansas City, Kan., where he now works in the scheduling department.

Dick-Dotson Nuptials

Before a setting of gladioli and palms Miss Joanna Katherine Dick daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August J. Dick, 1914 South Stewart, became the bride of Mr. Hubert Leslie Dotson, PHSN, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Finley, 1509 South church at 9:00 a. m. Saturday, August 11. The double ring service was read by the Reverend Anthony Migoni.

Mrs. Earl Paxton, at the organ accompanied Miss Mary Ann Kuhlman, soprano, who sang "Ave Maria", "Mother Beloved" and "Panis Angelicus."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina length gown of white organdy over white satin designed with fitted bodice and full flaring skirt. Her fingertip veil of illusion net was attached to a satin cap embroidered in seed pearls and her mitts were of white organdy matching her dress. She carried a bouquet of white roses with satin streamers which was attached to her first communion book. Her necklace was of pearls.

Miss Genevieve M. Dick, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, wore a gown of lavender organdy, ballerina length, with matching mitts and picture hat. She carried a nosegay of pink carnations with green satin streamers.

Miss Dorothy M. Dick, also a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and wore a ballerina length gown of apple green organdy with picture hat and mitts of matching material. Her nosegay was of yellow carnations with lavender satin streamers.

Mrs. Dick, mother of the bride wore a dress of navy blue crepe with blue accessories and the bridegroom's mother was attired in navy blue sheer. Both wore corsages of white gladioli.

Mr. Henry Dick, cousin of the bride, served as best man and Mr. Garald King was groomsman.

Ushers were Mr. Garnett Parkhurst of Fremont, Nebr., brother-in-law of the bridegroom and Mr. Robert Franke, of Sedalia who is in the U. S. Navy.

A reception was held from 12 noon to 2 p. m. at the home of the bride's parents.

The dinning table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with a three tiered wedding cake decorated with yellow roses. On top was a miniature bride and bridegroom. Serving were Mrs. Charles Pfeiffer, aunt of the bride Mrs. Garnett Parkhurst, sister of the bridegroom and Miss Lucille Parkhurst with Mrs. Melvin Oehrke in charge of the guest book.

Following the wedding a breakfast was held at the home of the bride's parents for the wedding party and the immediate families of the couple.

The couple left on a wedding trip to Jefferson City and St. Louis returning to Sedalia August 15. For traveling the bride wore a blue silk crepe dress with matching jacket and blue accessories. Her corsage was of white roses.

The bride has been employed at the Southwestern Bell Telephone company.

Mr. Dotson is in the United States Navy stationed at the NAS Photo Labatory, Corpus Christi, Tex. He is a graduate of the Photo School, Pensacola, Fla., U. S. Navy.

After August 24 the couple will be at home at 1538 South Alemeda, Corpus Christi, Tex.

Your Wardrobe

By Frances Sagaloff at Sage's

I JUST HAVEN'T A THING TO WEAR RIGHT NOW is an every day statement. Cool evenings and cloudy days make you want to hang aside your summer cottons. You will find faille suits are the most appropriate thing for now. They go most every place and you can either dress them up or down. The new unlined rayon suits for early Fall are in and they are right for early wear. Besides the solid colors in brown, black, purple and dark green there are some unusual checks. They are tiny and the colors are just right to wear with new dark accessories. Right now you can use small silk scarfs or pretty velvet flowers at the neck. An unlined suit will answer a lot of problems even later in the season and if you would like a different color than you usually wear it would be smart to select it in one of these.

Put that outgrown hobby horse back in the harness again by giving it a wide tray for a collar to be used for serving on porch or in the yard. If it is a rocking horse it will have to be made stationary first.

To make the collar tray use a piece of ¾-inch plywood and cut to an oval shape. Cut an opening for the neck of the horse and nail the tray on the horse's back. Enamel your equine table in gay carnival colors. Then place in your yard and friends will yell "whoa" at your house.

Teater-Callis Wedding

Miss Clayta Teater, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Teater of Blairstown and Mr. Edward Callis, Jr., son of Mr. Ed Callis of Hughesville, exchanged vows at 3 o'clock, August 12, in the Chilhowee Community Methodist church. The Rev. Warren Neal, pastor of the Broadway Presbyterian church in Sedalia, read the double ring service.

The altar was decorated with arrangements of white gladioli, woodwardia ferns and candelabra holding white tapers.

Mrs. Lawrence Miller of Chilhowee and Miss Rosalie Dameron of Richmond in floor length gowns of orchid and green net over taffeta, lighted the tapers.

As the guests assembled Mrs. W. E. Snoddy of Miami, played a program of nuptial music and Mrs. Joe Williams of Hughesville accompanied Mrs. Snoddy as she sang: "At Dawning," and "O, Promise Me," closing with "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her father, she wore a gown of satin and lace. The close fitting bodice had an illusion yoke outlined with a band of white satin. The tapered sleeves came to a point over the hands. The full skirt had aisle wide train and her fingertip veil fell from a lace and satin cap. She carried a bouquet of white Eucharis lilies

Mrs. Charles Dilthy of La Monte as matron of honor, wore a gown of yellow net over taffeta with matching mitts and hat. Ehe carried a bouquet of Picardy gladioli.

Miss Yvonne Leiter of Sedalia and Miss Mary Belle Dameron of Chilhowee were bridesmaids. They wore blue downs and hats identical in style to that of the matron of honor and carried bouquets of yellow gladioli.

Linda Callis, cousin of the bridegroom, and Sally Ann Ficke, cousin of the bride were flower girls. They wore floor length gowns of pink and aqua net over taffeta and carried baskets with rose petals.

Mr. Clayton Callis of Anniston, Ala., served as best man for his brother. Mr. Charles Dilthy and Jack Flower were groomsmen. Mr. Milford Ficke and Mr. Julian Fowler were ushers.

A reception was held in the church basement. The table was centered with a four tiered wedding cake topped with a wedding bell. Mrs. Nathan Fisher and Mrs. J. J. McReynolds served the cake and Mrs. A. C. Turner and Mrs. Wilson Doak served the punch. Miss Arlene Smithton was in charge of the guest book.

The bride's mother wore a gwon of dusty rose lace. Mrs. John Fowler, aunt of the bridegroom, wore a gown of aqua lace. Both wore corsages of white gladioli.

For traveling the bride wore a pink faille suit with white accessories. Her corsage was of white lilies. After the wedding trip the couple will be at home near Hughesville.

Holland Is Top Contender To End Luptow's Supremacy In Today's Big Car Races

23 Challengers Have Entered At State Fair

Time Trials Slated To Begin At 1:30; Main Races At 2:30

Racing champions Frankie Luptow and Bill Holland were favored today over 22 rival entires listed for the first day Missouri State Fair big car auto races to be touched off at 1:30 p.m., with qualifying speed runs.

The first of six scheduled competitive races on the IMCA - sanctioned program will follow at 2:30 o'clock.

Holland's entry, first ever filed here by an Indianapolis 500-mile race winner, is counted by fair racing officials the most potent threat to Luptow's 3-year supremacy over all rivals in Sedalia competition.

Holland Holds Eastern AAA Lead

Holland will challenge the two-time IMCA national dirt track champion with his own Blue Crown Offenhauser, a car that is now leading on points for the 1951 Eastern AAA championship.

Best known for his phenomenal 4-year Indianapolis speed w a y record of one first and three seconds. Holland is also rated one of the nation's top dirt track headliners. He holds 26 official records, all set on eastern tracks.

Bobby Grim A Top Driver

But it may not be all Holland and Luptow, for young Bobby Grim, crack Indianapolis speed jockey who has twice beaten Luptow this year, will be in the line-up with another powerful Offenhauser. Grim has won the only State Fair main event not captured by Luptow since 1948. He scored his lone victory at the 1949 exposition here.

Phil Mocca, Ken Rubright, Bob Slater and Wayne Selser have also nominated Offenhausers for the competition, bringing the total to seven, a State Fair record.

Slater and Selser, widely known for their midget racing feats at the Kansas City Olympic stadium, will be taking their first big car rides in State Fair competition.

Mocca A Local Favorite

Mocca is an established State Fair favorite here and Rubright has also fed dust to Luptow's Black Panther at least once during the 1951 racing campaigns.

The field also includes a number of other new stars, young drivers just graduated from the fields of midget racing, hot rods and stock car competition.

Some of these are Roy Prosser, Los Angeles holder of national hot rod speed marks set at Muroc dry lake in the California dessert; Bud Dumbrowski, Indianapolis; Eddie Loetcher, St. Louis; Frank (Farmer) Wiser, Brook, Ind.; and Jerry Kemp, Terre Haute, Ind.

Mickey Mantle To Take Third Draft Physical At Okla. City Monday

MIAMI, Okla., Aug. 18—(AP)—Prize baseball rookie Mickey Mantle, dogged by a relentless Uncle Sam, will undergo his third draft physical at Oklahoma City Monday.

The 19-year-old Kansas City outfielder, twice classified 4-F because of a leg bone infection, hails from nearby Commerce, Okla.

His local draft board here reminded today that the latest examination was ordered "at the request of National Selective Service Director Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey."

Mantle, demoted to Kansas City by the New York Yankees during a batting slump, has been shelling American Association pitching at a .367 clip since.

State Jr. Legion Champs At Regional Tourney Site

ALTUS, Okla., Aug. 18—(AP)—State American Legion baseball champions from Kansas, Missouri and Iowa arrived here today to join the host Altus club in the regional tournament beginning tomorrow.

Wichita, Kas., Cape Girardeau, Mo., and Davenport, Iowa, are the three visiting clubs in the meet moved to Altus this year from Mason City, Iowa.

Texan Takes Dry Fly Title At National Casting Tourney

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18—(AP)—Lee Slaughter, Jr., of Dallas, Texas, won the title of National Dry Fly champion today at the 43rd National Casting tournament.

Slaughter tied with Charles Schall, of Affton, Mo., with scores of 99 each, out of a possible 100. Slaughter then won the cast-off.

7,000 Witness 'Cycle Races At State Fair

Thrills and spills were plentiful at the motorcycle races on the half-mile oval at the Missouri State Fair Saturday afternoon, but the 7,000 fans who witnessed the races received a big disappointment in the fact that World Champion Dick Klamfoth failed to arrive. AMA officials said they had no reason for Klamfoth's absence.

Seven 'Cycle Spills

In the afternoon of speed the fans were treated to seven spills on the curves. Luckily enough, none of the 'cyclists were seriously injured. The most spectacular crash occurred in the finals of the expert races when Don McHugh, Toronto, Canada, spun his 'cycle in two complete turns as he came into the back straightaway from the southeast turn. He was thrown a considerable distance, but bounced off the turf and pulled his machine from the track.

The races were divided into three divisions, in accord with American Motorcycle Association rules. The novice class was for the rookie drivers, the amateur class was for the more seasoned division and the expert division was the top "throttle twisters" of the country.

Albrecht Tops Experts

In the expert race Paul Albrecht of Sacramento, Calif., took the top prize by defeating Richard Oleary, Kalamazoo, Mich., who finished second and Joe Hollobeck the third placer in the finals. McHugh was running fourth in this race when he crashed.

In the amateur finals Harlan Shoe of Lansing, Mich., captured first place over Archie Weimer, Chesterton, Ind., and Larry Gerhardt, Shreveport, La.

Novice Title to K. C. Driver

Norman McClure of Kansas City took the novice championship from R. Clodfelter, Bellville, Ill., and Don Murclock, Wavsa, Wis. McClure had the pole position when the race started, but he was trailing John Lewis, Corpus Christi, Tex., for six laps. Coming into the grandstand stretch, Lewis' machine slid out from under him and he was hurled to the ground. He was dazed and didn't move for some time. When the ambulance reached him he had regained consciousness. He was taken to the hospital, as were four other drivers.

48 'Cycles Entered

A total of 48 motorcycles were entered in Saturday's competition. The novice class had the highest number with 23 while the amateurs fielded 14 and the experts numbered 11.

The American Motorcycle Association sponsored Four Star Race Meet offered prize money amounting to $1,200.00. The winners are as follows.

Wrestler Loses Impromptu Bout With Dockhand

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 18—(AP)—"Mad Russian" Ivan Kalmikoff, heavily bearded professional wrestler, lost an unscheduled match to a dockhand tonight.

He was bested in the free-for-all by Claude Shadrick, 33, a former prize fighter weighing 225. Shadrick later filed an assault complaint against the burly grappler who tips the scales at 195.

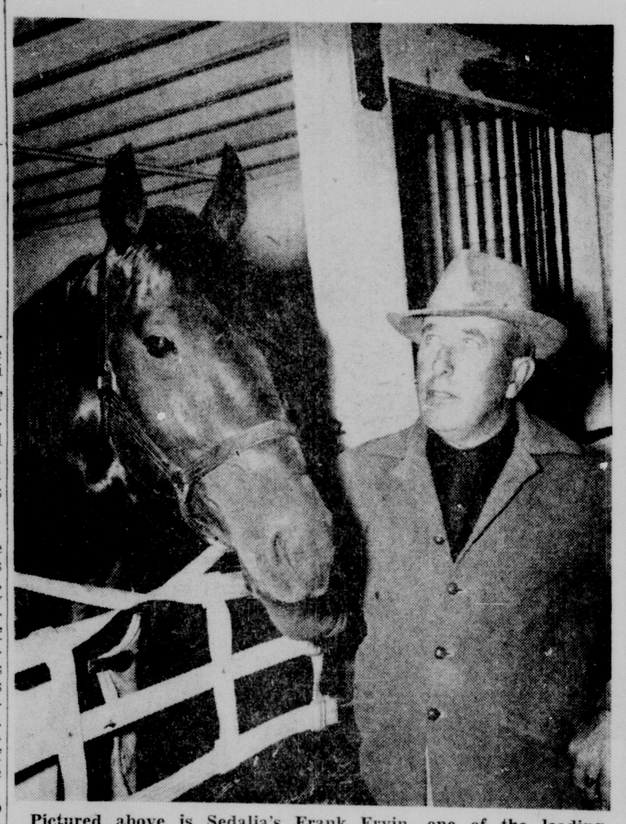
It all started when Kalmikoff stopped his automobile in front of the truck loading dock and stepped out to fix a stuck horn.

He failed to appreciate the snickers as he tinkered in vain and said so.

"He jumped to the dock calling us a bunch of dirty dogs," Shadrick said. One word led to another and the battle began. Shadrick said he struck the first blow.

"Kalmikoff picked me up and threw me to the pavement," the dockworker told police. "I got up and hit him again. He kept trying to get those fancy holds on me. Once he caught my arm and began to twist it, but I took a handful of his beard and pulled him away."

Sedalia's Frank Ervin Returns



Pictured above is Sedalia's Frank Ervin, one of the leading reinsmen in the Grand Circuit harness races today. Ervin is returning to his home town this week to participate in the Grand Circuit Races at the Missouri State Fair. He will drive Clipper Hanover (pictured with Ervin) in the "Big Five Trot" on Sedalia Day, Thursday. He is also scheduled to pilot the local favorite "Good Time" among other top trotters.

Sport Scraps

By D. Kelly Scruton

IN selecting Carl "King Carl" Hubbell as the initial member of the Missouri Sports Hall of Fame, the sports writers of the state selected an athlete whose record will support the honor given him.

Hubbell broke into the major leagues with the New York Giants in 1928, after five years of minor league experience. He never played with any other team than the Polo Grounders.

In 1943, after 16 years under the big tent, he decided his playing days were gone, but to the Giants fans he would never be forgotten, because he was the "meal ticket" year after year.

After retiring from the playing field. Hubbell was a unanimous choice of baseball writers to become a member of Baseball's Hall of Fame at Copperstown, N. Y.

Hubbell was truly one of the game's greatest lefthanders. In the 16 seasons he worked in 523 games, pitched 3,525 innings and won 249 games while losing 150. He was not erratic as many southpaws are. In his career he walked only 701 men while fanning 1,646. He had an unbelievable earned average for his 16 years in a 2.94 mark.

LOOKING over Hubbell's record the following achievements can be found. He established a National League record by pitching 46 consecutive shutout innings from July 13 to August 1 in 1933. The same year he registered ten shutouts.

In the pennant winning season of 1936 Hubbell won his last 16 games. His only no-hitter came when he was a freshman with the Giants in 1929. On May 8 of that year he reached this goal against the Pittsburgh Pirates.

In 1936-37 he led the National league in won and lost percentage. In games won he was high in 1933 with 23, 1936 with 26, and in 1937 with 22. Also in 1933 his 314 innings pitched was a National League high. His earned run average was the loop's tops in 1933, 1934 and 1936.

He led the league in 1934 for complete games pitched and in strikeouts in 1937.

One of Gabby Street's favorite yarns came from the time Hubbell defeated his Cardinals in 1933 by a 1-0 score in an 18 inning contest, in which Hubbell hurled the entire game. In that game he did not issue a base on balls—good for any pitcher—right or left handed.

In the All-Star game of 1934 he fanned five of the American league's most feared batters in succession (Ruth, Gehrig, Foxx, Simmons and Cronin.)

Hubbell marked up a 4-2 record in the three Worl dSeries' in which he participated.

His world series earned run average is 1.79 runs per game.

He was named the National league's most valuable player in 1933 and 1936. He was selected to five all star teams. In 1936 the SPORTING NEWS acclaimed him as the Major League Player of the Year.

With this fine record Hubbell was not forgotten by the New York management. He was given a job in the Giants' front office and later became the director of their farm system, the capacity which he now holds.

NO doubt local sport fans would like to know how Sedalia's Johnny Layton ranked in the voting. Well, through the efforts of the Sedalia Democrat-Capital sports department, Johnny finished a strong seventh. As you probably know he put Sedalia on the map when he became the world champion three-cushioned billiards player. We'll support Johnny again in '52 and maybe he'll move up a few notches.

SPEED is again the menu for the oval in front of the grandstand today. Big car racers under the sanction of the International Motor Contest Association and supervised by Al Sweeney and Gaylord White. There is no argument that when these two gentlemen step out on the track they have the affair well in hand.

There never has been any more orderly handling of races than when Sweeney takes over the flags to start the drivers on their drive and White gets on the microphone and gives a word description of the fast-circling cars. The drivers have expressed themselves in stating they have no fear while on the track when Sweeney has the handling of the flags.

Frankie Luptow, Tampa, Fla., will be defending his laurels against "Bill" Holland of Reading, Pa. Holland a winner of the Indianapolis "500" has entered the racing events in Sedalia, although he will have to do all night driving to get here in time for today's program. Holland assured Secretary-Manager W. E. Preston, he would do his utmost to get here for today's events, but is positive his schedule will get him here for Saturday, August 25th.

There will be excitement as there are a number of youngsters entered in the big-time event who are hot-rod champions and are graduating to the big-time racing circles.

Legion Triumphs Over All-Stars In Disputed Game

Post 16's American Junior Legion baseball team was winning over the Foster's All-Stars by a 6-4 score at Liberty park Friday night when the game came to a sudden end in the last of the seventh inning over a dispute.

E. Burton was at bat with the bases loaded. Patton, the All-Star hurler, fired and Burton swung, missing the ball. The catcher also missed the ball and a Post 16 run scored.

The All-Stars protested that Burton had fouled the ball, but the umpire over-ruled their claim and the Stars walked off the field.

Bill Arnold hurled for the Legion, allowing three hits, walked one and fanned 13 batters.

Patton hurled for the Stars and Gray caught. Larry Mines and Floyd Burton caught for Post 16.

Hall Of Fame Ups Earnings In US Derby

CHICAGO, Aug. 18—(AP)—The Greentree Stable's Hall of Fame today charged to a three-quarters of a length victory in the $79,525 American Derby at Washington park to become the leading money winning three-year-old of the year.

The eastern invader, ridden by Jockey Ted Atkinson, was never worse than third. Abbe Sting, at odds of 9 to 1, finished second, with Bernwood third and Ruhe fourth in a field of eight. Hall of Fame, carrying 122 pounds, ran the mile and a quarter in 2:01 1/5.

Hall of Fame became the fifth three-year-old to win both the Arlington classic and the American Derby. Mate accomplished this double victory in 1931. Gusto in 1932, Cavalcade in 1934 and the Calumet farm's Ponder in 1949.

Hall of Fame's victory was worth $62,200 to Mrs. Charles Shipman Payne and her brother, John Hay "Jock" Whitney, owners of the Greentree stable. This sum brought Hall of Fame's earnings this season to $194,005, shoving the bay grey colt ahead of Battlefield, whose three-season total is $149,300, including today's victory share in the Travers stake at Saratoga.

The crowd of 26,563 sent Hall of Fame to the post at odds of 7-5, with Rough 'N Tumble, winner of the $100,000 Santa Anita Derby second choice. Hall of Fame returned $4.80, $3.60 and $2.80. Abbe Sting paid $6.80 to place and $4.20 to show, while Bernwood paid $3.60 to show.

The original starting field of ten was reduced to eight with the withdrawal of Bugledrums and Andy B. W. and thus reduced the size of the purse.

Midget Auto Officials To Hold Family Night At Olympic Stadium

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 19 (Special)—Sunday night will be "family night" for midget auto racing fans at Olympic Stadium as officials announced yesterday children under 12 years of age will be admitted free. On tap for the nine-event racing card on the fast fifth-mile oval will be a 35-lap Handicap Classic, an increase of five laps over last week-end's main event.

A new track record was set last week-end at Olympic stadium as young Eddie McVay, of Kansas City, toured the 30 circuits in 6:38.75 minutes, bettering the old mark held by Vito Calia, also of Kansas City. Calia's time was 6:49.75 minutes.

Time trials for the races start at six p.m. every Sunday and races begin at seven o'clock.

Grand Circuit Races Take Over Fast Oval At State Fair Monday

Grand Circuit harness racing, featuring the best drivers and the fastest horses in the nation, invades the Missouri State Fair tomorrow for five days of thrill packed action. More than $100,000 in prize money will be distributed during the meeting.

Track Time Is 1.59

The State Fair oval is lightning fast and indications are that the track record of 1.59 established by the trotter Egan Hanover in 1949 will go by the boards.

In Grand Circuit competition during recent weeks, a number of pacers and a pair of top trotters have shown sufficient speed to indicate that any or all of them may be able to lower the existing standard.

Ervin Pilots Good Time

One of those in the extreme speed group is Good Time, the mighty mite owned by Bill Cane of Goshen, N. Y. and trained and driven by Sedalia's own Frank Ervin. In his only mile track start of the season, Good Time reeled off a winning effort in 1.59 1/5 at Goshen, N. Y. two weeks ago. His chief rivals, Scottish Pence, Dudley Hanover, Royal Blackstone and Highland Ellen also are capable of that sort of speed.

On the trotting side of the ledger, Harry Pownall's Star's Pride who has already been in 1.59 1/5 while setting eight world records this season could easily do it while the Hayes Fair Acres' Pronto Don is another in that category.

Star's Pride Runs Friday

Good Time will go in either the $6,000 Star Pointer Tuesday or the $10,000 Mid America Friday, probably the latter. Star's Pride will race in a $2,500 free-for-all Friday and Pronto Don is scheduled to take the word in the $5,000 Goldsmith Maid tomorrow.

But other traditional stakes for rich purses also command a big piece of the spotlight. The winner of the recent $95,000 Hambletonian, Mainliner, from Milwaukee, will go in the $15,000 Will Gahagan Memorial Wednesday and will be called on to face, among others, the Hayes Stable's Spennib who licked him at Springfield, Ill. last week.

Top 2-Year-Olds Are Here

The cream of the nation's two-year-olds will go postward on Wednesday and Thursday. Trotters will vie for $18,000, richest purse of the week, on Wednesday while the pacers will go for $13,000 the next day. Tops among the trotters are Duke of Lullwater, Hit Song and Scotch Victor. The best young pacers, off last week's performances, are Thunderclap, Ichabod Crain, Meadow Rice, Vonian Chief and Voting Trust.

Tar Heel, a 3-year-old pacer who went in 1.59 4/5 Thursday, will head the 3-year-old pacing brigade which shoots for a $12,000 melon on Wednesday. The colt is trained and driven by Del Miller who will also have the great Solicitor, idle last week, on the firing line.

Big Trot Thursday

Two events for 14 class horses also has attracted considerable attention. The Big 5 Trot, for $5,000 goes off on Thursday while its counterpart, The Big 5 Pace for a similar purse, is carded for Wednesday.

The $5,000 Goldsmith Maid Trot, two divisions of the Western Breeder's Futurity, a 19 class pace for Missouri-owned horses and a two-year-old trot inaugurates the big program tomorrow.

'Star-Pro Grid Game

McFadin Gets Player Award From Scribes

CHICAGO, Aug. 18—(AP)—Lewis (Bud) McFadin, a hulking guard from the University of Texas, has been chosen as the most valuable player of the All-Stars who lost a 33-0 verdict to the Cleveland Browns Friday night.

The results of a poll of newspapermen assigned to the game were announced today. McFadin will receive a silver trophy between the halves of the 1952 game, Charley Justice received a trophy Friday night for his role in the 1950 classic.

McFadin, who was All-Star co-captain with Jerry Groom of Notre Dame, was a bulwark in the otherwise sieve-like line of the collegians. He, Groom, and Bud Sherrod of Tennessee managed to make at least 75 per cent of the tackles.

McFadin had to out-point another Texan, Kyle Rote, to win the award. Bud Sherrod, Tennessee end, and Whizzer White, Arizona State back, followed the Southern Methodist halfback in that order.

Ballots were cast for 13 different All-Stars by the newsmen, with the defensive platoon being favored due apparently to the total lack of any kind of offensive punch by the Stars.

The All-Star squad disbanded today. Most of the players are headed for professional outfits.

The Browns and their slim, dapper, coach, Paul Brown, came out of the game looking practically impregnable to their opponents in the National Football League.

For four years running they won the All-American Conference championship. Then, when that league dissolved, they ran through NFL opposition with only two defeats, beating the Los Angeles Rams for the national crown in the playoff last December.

They administered the second worst beating ever handed the All-Star group in 1948, 38-0.

Brochures On Recreation Area

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Aug. 18 — Brochures on two of Missouri's recreational areas have been published and are being distributed by the Division of Resources and Development, according to H. H. Mobley, division director. They are Old Trails Area of Missouri and Old Settlement Playgrounds of Missouri. Each has 36 pages and cover, the latter and the center spread being in four colors, and the remainder being black and white photographs. Practically all were taken by Gerald Massie, division photographer.

The Old Trails booklet covers an area composed of Carroll, Charlton, Cooper, Johnson, Lafayette, Pettis, Ray and Saline counties, and part of Clay county. The Old Settlement Playgrounds includes Bollinger, Cape Girardeau, Madison, Perry, St. Francois and Ste. Genevieve counties, and parts of Butler, Iron, Jefferson, Wayne and Washington counties.

The booklets portray pictorially activities and accommodations which are available to the traveler and give some of the historic background of the region. Single copies may be obtained free by writing the division office here.

Fined For Not Having License For Fishing

Harley W. Hageman pleaded for himself and his wife in the Magistrate court Saturday morning to a charge of violation of the state conservation commission in not having fishing licenses.

They were fined $5.00 and costs each.

Quickly Finds Cows And Added Calf

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Aug. 17—(AP)—Pilot Wayne Fuller scored better than 100 per cent today when a farmer hired him to do some aerial cowboy work.

The farmer had hunted two days for 13 of his cows which had broken out of a pasture. He finally hired Fuller to do the searching.

The flier found the little herd in 15 minutes—and he didn't just find 13 cows. He found 14. One of the animals had calved.

Tigers Prepare For '51 Season

With the fall season in sight, local sports fans are beginning to focus their sights on the 1951 gridiron campaign at Smith-Cotton high school.

Many fans wonder just what talent will return after the 7-2 1950 season. In the May graduation the Tigers lost their four members of the Central Missouri Conference all-star team in Bill Wheeler, Whitey Bryant, Bob Shawver and Bill McCrary plus seven other lettermen who are as follows: Tom Menefee, Don Pummill, Art Conley, Warren Keene, Ted Van Nada, J. D. Schlobohm and Don Rathburn.

Lettermen Return

To replace the 11 lost letter players, the Bengals have nine lettermen and three provisional winners returning. The boys returning will probably outweigh the 1950 squad by about five pounds per man. The line will definitely be larger than the Bengals last year.

The returning linemen who won letters are: Don Allcorn, Herb Ford, Skip Schulz, Stan Walch, Jim Phelps and Gene Rathburn, the latter two being provisional letter winners.

Five Backs Are Veterans

In the backfield Bill Arnold, Floyd Burton, Richard Lanning, Bob Lane and Bob England will be back. England is also a provisional letter winner.

Coach Ralph "Stub" Dow said at the Tiger's practice session Wednesday night he had boys potentially as good as some of his key performers last year, but whether they will develop into top gridders is yet to be seen.

Up from the "B" team ranks to seek first team berths the following will probably check-out uniforms: Harold Hughes, Ron Benedict, Andrew Chancellor, Jim McMurdo, Jim Schneck, Junior Keene, Earl Nold, Dean Berry, and Richard Bennett. Several other boys whose names are not available have indicated they will be candidates this fall.

Tigers Get Late Start

The Tigers will get a late start at the rugged drills. At the present time they are working out in half dress. Pads will not come until after fair week, and as the Smith-Cotton coaches say, "That's when we'll begin to work."

Only 20 boys have been reporting to practice because so many have jobs at the State Fair and other business firms in Sedalia.

This year Coach Dow is again assisted by Howard Glavin, line mentor. This will mark Glavin's fourth season at Smith-Cotton.

The Smith-Cotton high school football schedule follows:

September 14—Marshall, here.
September 21—Kemper, there.
September 28—St. Peter's, here.
October 5—Open.
October 12—Hannibal, here.
October 19—Columbia, here.
October 26 — Jefferson City, there.
November 2—Raytown, here.
November 8—Mexico Military Academy, there.
November 16 — North Kansas City, there.

you get 19 of 20 features found in high-priced cars!

Study this Quality Chart and let the FACTS show you where the VALUE is

Wouldn't you say that a good way to judge the value of a low-priced car is to compare it with a high-priced car?

Plymouth welcomes such comparison. Of 20 quality features found in the highest-priced cars, Plymouth has 19, the next low-priced car has 10, and the third has only 5.

Moreover, Plymouth has features that you can't get even in some of the most expensive cars — new Oriflow Shock Absorbers, Safe-Guard Hydraulic Brakes, Safety-Rim Wheels, and many other engineering advantages.

Your Plymouth dealer will give you full particulars about the Quality Chart shown here. But don't just compare features on paper. Compare the low-priced cars on the road!

Take Plymouth's new "Safety-Flow Ride." Your Plymouth dealer will be glad to arrange a demonstration now.

Into Auctioneer Business Here

David Kemp Hieronymus, who has been in the insurance and real estate business in Kansas City, has sold his home there and has moved to Sedalia to go into the auctioneering, real estate and insurance business.

He will be associated with his father, Kemp Hieronymus, well known auctioneer of the Sedalia community, in the auctioneering business. He is a graduate of the Reich American School of Auctioneering, Mason City, Iowa, the largest school of its kind in the world. His training included the conduction of all types of auction sales.

Mr. Hieronymus states that he will, in addition to handling general auction sales, conduct free of charge auctions for any non-profit benefit cause.

Mr. Hieronymus is also a licensed real estate broker and a graduate of the Weaver School of Real Estate, and will conduct a real estate and insurance business along with his handling of auction sales.

Miss April Burton, 1021 East 17th, has as her guest for fair week, her cousin Miss Margaret Ann Meyers of Wentzville. Margaret Ann's mother, Mrs. Ivan Meyers and her grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. Schrader, also of Wentzville will join her the latter part of the week.

Berlene Curtis, 1516 South Missouri, who spent the past week in Jefferson City where she was the house guest of Mary Avery, returned home Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey J. Curtis, 1516 South Missouri, had as their guests the past week Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Van Hoose, Peoria, Ill. They left Friday for their home and were accompanied by Berlene Curtis who will visit them.

Miss Helen Brubaker of Washington, Dr. C. is spending her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Brubaker, 1704 East 16th. Mrs. Harry N. Howard, another daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brubaker, Dr. Howard and two sons, of Washington, D. C., will arrive Monday for a visit.

Picnic Held By Shackleford Club

The Shackleford Home Economics club had their picnic and business meeting at the Indian Foothills park in Marshall on August 12.

Ten members and eight visitors and several children were present.

Mrs. Maude Younger called the meeting to order. Scripture was read by Mrs. Orville Cornine.

Beverly Taylor, 4-H'er gave a demonstration on how to make a sewing basket and contents.

Plans for achievement day were discussed. The meeting closed by reading the club collect.

Educational Films At The Library

Civic and community groups interested in 16mm. educational films will find an unusually wide selection of subjects at the Sedalia Public Library this month. Films now on hand may be booked for showing through August 31.

The titles are: "Ave Maria;" "For Health and Happiness;" "Gray Squirrel;" "Level Farming on Sloping Fields;" " A Lost World;" "Make Way for Youth;" "Meaning of the Industrial Revolution;" "Mexican Potters;" "Over-dependency;" "Snakes, Friends and Foes;" "Tackling in Football;" and" John Greenleaf Whittier."

Church News Of Near-by Towns

The Character Builders Bible class of the LaMonte Methodist church met at the home of Mrs. J. L. Stevens and Mrs. E. P. Burke August 15.

The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. E. C. Wright, who read scripture and a story of the seasons of the year.

A hymn, "Beauty of the Earth" was sung by the group.

Mrs. Will Cook gave the lesson "Who Do You Say I Am."

Mrs. G. M. Love was a visitor.

Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

Browns Blast Detroit, 20-7

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 18—(AP)—The St. Louis Browns scored the most runs of their history in a single game today, trouncing the Detroit Tigers 20 to 9. The club also equaled the count for a single inning with 11 tallies in the seventh.

Tigers Made 5 Errors

Five Detroit errors helped the Browns get back into the ball game. Ken Wood's double in the fourth and Hank Arft's three-run homer in the seventh were the only extra-base blows by the Browns.

Meanwhile the Tigers were blasting out five homers—by Dick Kryhoski, Vic Wertz, Jerry Priddy and two by Pat Mullin.

The previous high for a game by the Browns was 19 runs in 1925 against the New York Yankees. The previous 11-run inning was in 1949 against the Philadelphia Athletics.

Trailed Until Fourth

The Browns trailed until the fourth inning when they produced a five-run outburst. The Tigers tied the count twice, in the sixth and the seventh, then St. Louis let go for keeps.

The first Browns' run came in the third when George Kell threw wild, allowing Bobby Young and Jim Delsing to score. Then Priddy let Hank Arft's grounder go through him, Matt Batts scoring.

In the fourth two attempts to pick off Brownies from bases misfired for two more errors and two of the five runs.

Arft Bats In Five

Batts and Arft led the St. Louis attack. Batts driving in four and Arft five.

In the big seventh Bob Mahoney opened by striking out. A single by Young and walk to Delsing brought Hank Borowy onto the mound.

He was greeted by a single by Batts, Cliff Mapes and Arft's home run. Ken Wood and Fred Marsh then singled and Bill Jennings walked, loading the sacks.

Walks to Frank Saucier, young and Delsing produced three more runs and Fred Hutchinson tried to stop the fire.

He did, but not 'til Batts singled again, scoring Saucier and Young, and Arft singled, scoring Delsing.

Raschi Hurls 4-Hitter Over A's For 17th Win

NEW YORK, Aug. 18—(AP)—Big Vic Raschi turned in his 17th victory of the season today as he pitched the New York Yankees to a 5-1 triumph over the Philadelphia Athletics. The Yanks sewed it up with three runs in the fifth on a walk and four singles.

Lemon Blanks ChiSox As Indians Keep Pace

CHICAGO, Aug. 18—(AP)—Bob Lemon hurled his first shutout of the season today — a brilliant three-hitter — and Dale Mitchell accounted for four runs with two booming homers as the Cleveland Indians whipped the Chicago White Sox 7-0 today and kept pace with the New York Yankees atop the American League.

The Tribe bounced back from a double jolt yesterday with a 17-hit barrage off Ken Holcombe, who lasted only 1⅓ innings, and Harry Dorish. The Yankees kept pace with a 5-1 win over Philadelphia.

Mitchell signalled the start of the batting splurge by leading off the first inning with a homer into the right field stands.

He drew groans from the 22,263 Comiskey park White Sox rooters in the eighth by parking Dorish's fast ball among the right field customers again and Hegan and Lemon scored ahead of him.

Mitchell's two blasts boosted his homer total to eight for his best season production since coming to the majors. It was the first time he ever slammed two in one game.

Mitchell also added a pair of singles and walked another time for a perfect day at the plate. All this hiked his batting average to .299, continuing his upward climb in the averages after a poor start. He never has hit below .300.

While Mitchell was showing off at the plate, Lemon captured his first shutout victory of the campaign and appeared headed for his second one-hit performance until a pair of fluke blows by Chico Carrasquel and Minnie Minoso—his only hit of the game—wrecked his hopes.

Red Sox Win Wild Game Over Hapless Senators

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18—(AP)—The Boston Red Sox staggered to a 10-9 victory over the Nats tonight in a wild game dealing Washington a seventh straight defeat while remaining four games behind Cleveland and New York, tied for the league lead.

Nine pitchers were used in the struggle, with Ellis Kinder, fourth Boston hurler, stifling a Washington rally in the ninth.

Cardinals Bow To Blackwell

CINCINNATI, Aug. 18—(AP)—Ewell Blackwell, showing some of his 1949 form, pitched his second shutout of the season to beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 1-0, here today.

The Reds, scoring their only run in the first inning, gave Blackie a 13-10 record.

Spacing six hits, Blackwell was in trouble only in the eighth when Harry Brecheen singled with one out and Solly Hemus hit to center.

Brecheen advanced to second—the first and only Card to reach the keystone bag.

Blackie then worked on Red Schoendienst, fanning him, and got Stan Musial to foul to Adams outside of third base.

The Reds, climbing on Brecheen, scored the only tally of the game when Bobby Adams led off with a single, and then, after Connie Ryan grounded out, scored on big Ted Kluszewski's blow to right.

"The Cat" recovered and limited the Rhinelanders to only five more widely spaced hits from there on.

Sally Rand At Show Preview Greets Guests

Sally Rand virtually took over the show at the carnival preview for fair officials at the Missouri State Fair Friday evening. The Hickory county girl was everywhere before a dinner given greeting the guests in a most friendly and jovial manner. She was really the "belle of the ball" and everyone, especially Miss Rand, seemed to enjoy the informality of the evening.

John W. Wilson and Izzy Cetlin, owners of the Cetlin and Wilson World on Parade Shows operation on the midway at the fair, held the dinner and gave a preview of their "Hi Frenchie" show for a group of about 120 guests, including officials of the state and the fair.

Following a four-course dinner served in the girl show tent, Mr. Wilson welcomed the group to the carnival midway and presented W. E. 'Bill' Preston, secretary-manager of the fair. Preston introduced a number of the guests.

Miss Raynell's show, "Hi Frenchie" which stars Miss Rand, and Billy "Zoot" Reed, was a pleasant surprise to the entire crowd. A highly pleasing, varied program was presented with beautiful girls, scenery, attractive costumes and unusual lightning effects. It was one of the finest carnival shows ever to show on the State Fair grounds.

Among some of the guests were: M. E. Morris, state treasurer; C. Lawrence Leggett, state director of insurance; Col David E. Harrison, superintendent of the state highway patrol; State Senator Ted Hawkins, State Representative Dan Doty, Major G. R. Minor, assistant to the superintendent of the state highway patrol; Robert "Bob" Thornburg, Commissioner of Agriculture; Mayor Herb Studer, of Sedalia, and Prosecuting Attorney Michael Bogutski.

Award Regents Scholarships

Jean Crecelius of Sedalia has been awarded a regents' scholarship at Central Missouri State college, Warrensburg, Dean Loyd E. Grimes announced. Miss Leila Elzena Faulconer of Houstonia, Miss Anna Catherine Case of Green Ridge, Miss Ruth Evelyn Farris of La Monte; and Miss Clara Mae Winston of LaMonte, graduate of Sweet Springs high school, have also been awarded regents' scholarship at the college.

The regents' scholarship, awarded on the basis of high scholastic attainment exempts the holder from payment of incidental fees at the college for three quarters.

Most of the students are expected to use the scholarships, beginning with the fall term, which starts at C.M.S.C. on September 7.

A holder of a regents' scholarship, as well as other students, will find that living costs on the campus will be held to a minimum this year, President George W. Diemer said. Despite higher costs, there will be only a slight increase of 75 cents per week for room and board this year for students residing in college—operated dormitories and residence halls. A student under contract, can have 20 meals per week in the college dining room for $8.50, or about 42 cents per meal.

Letter Carriers And Auxiliary Meet

The Letter Carriers' Auxiliary held their regular August meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Linden L. Jones, 1901 South Osage.

Mrs. Mary Scott, president of auxiliary, presided over the auxiliary meeting and the Letter Carriers' meeting was presided over by the president, Johnny Heisterberg.

After the meeting all went into the garden of the Jones home where watermelon was served by Mr. and Mrs. Jones and Mr. and Mrs. James Hall.

To Graduate At Replacement Center

Private Cecil L. Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Williams 1600 So. Kentucky, Sedalia, will graduate from the Medical Replacement Training center, Brooke Army Medical Center, Fort Sam Houston, Texas. He has completed eight weeks of training in medical subjects and will now be assigned to advanced study in another army school or to duty in a hospital or field medical unit.

The Medical Replacement Training Center is one of the Army's basic training schools for the medical service enlisted man. Here the soldier learns the fundamentals of medical support of patients in hospitals and troops in the field.

Autos Were Damaged In a Collision

A collision between a 1940 Ford sedan, driven by Dick Jenkins, 45, 614 South Ohia and a 1951 Nash sedan driven by Arthur Schermann, 34, of Herman, Mo., occurred at the intersection of 24th and Kentucky at 11 a. m. Saturday.

The Ford was damaged on the front end and was towed to the Hamlin's service station. The Nash was damaged on the right rear side and rear bumper.

The accident was investigated by police.

Walther Leaguers to Concordia

The 35th Missouri District Walther League convention will be held at Concordia, Mo., over the Labor Day week-end, September 1, 2, 3. Convention headquarters will be on the campus of St. Paul's college.

Almost 300 leaguers from different parts of the state are expected to attend this convention. Registration will be held a 9 o'clock Saturday morning, and the opening business session will be Saturday afternoon. The convention banquet will be held Saturday evening. The toastmaster in charge is Norman Gienapp, instructor at St. Paul's college and the speaker is W. F. Wolbrecht, president of St. Paul's college.

All Sedalians are thinking in terms of the State Fair this week so we are writing this column especially for those who are interested in what is going on at the Fair Grounds. The Girl Scout Building will be a beehive of activity all week as we welcome the public to see and hear about Girl Scouting. One of the biggest and best displays of handicraft will be exhibited this year. Mrs. Kelly Scruton and Mrs. Elmo Harlan are the chairman in charge of the big task of setting up the displays and plans for the week. In the front of the building the Junior Camp Council under the guidance of Harry Lambirth have set up a rustic camp scene. The lashing and campskills shown in this display have been a part of the activity of this active group of girls. Mrs. John Bowman our Membership Chairman will be in charge of a booth on recruitment. Anyone interested in Girl Scouting please stop and visit with us and receive some of the free literature that we have for each one of you.

During the hours of 1:30 to 4:00 each afternoon a group of intermediate Scouts will be on hand to show those interested in the different kinds of crafts and how they are done.

The Girl Scouts who will be on hand to demonstrate skills are: Saturday Aug. 18, Barbara Freund, Vera Lee Monroe; Monday Aug. 20, Shiela Merry, Kay Harlan; Tuesday, August 21, Martha Comos and Dorothy Bethke; Wednesday, Aug. 22, Susan Schien and April Burton; Thursday, Aug. 23, Alphonsine Miles and Josephine White; Friday, Aug. 25, Barbara Freund and Vera Lee Monroe. Mrs. Dorothy Kitchen will have Norma Jean Parks, Gloria and Helen Herndon and Mrs. Olander Black will have Jean Marie Carter, Anita Foster, Donna Marie Smith, Cynthia Ann Butler and Ella Roseman at the exhibit Wednesday.

Special guests during the week will be a group of the Mobile Unit from Independence who will arrive on Monday afternoon and put up camp at Camp Sakajawea. They will spend several days taking in the sights at the Fair Grounds. Mrs. Roger DeWitt and Mrs. Frank Walker will be the adult advisors for this group.

Buses carrying 80 Girl Scouts, 20 adults will arrive during the week for a one day camp out at the Fair Grounds. This group of Kansas City Scouts are attending Scout Camp near Warsaw and with 8 Senior Girls of Sedalia as hostesses will visit the points of interest on the grounds. They will bring nose bag lunches with them to eat during the day. As the Girl Scout slogan says "Be Prepared" we are just doing that in welcoming you to our building on the Fair Grounds this week.

Maps first were printed in the second half of the 15th century, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

BANK'S CLOSING NOTICE

The banks of Sedalia will be closed Tuesday afternoon, August 21st, beginning at twelve o'clock noon, and all day Thursday, August 23rd, so that all bank personnel may attend the Missouri State Fair.

Divena Is Lauded By Writers

The country's best known columnists and dramatic reviewers are Divena's best press agents. Divena is the lissome, lovely lassie who performs the most graceful gyrations imaginable in a five hundred gallon tank of water on the stage of her own extravagant show on the midway of the Cetlin and Wilson shows at the Missouri State Fair.

Some of the typical "raves" follow:

Robert Keith in the London Sunday Mirror wrote: "Divena is the tag of the moisture-proof stunner and her act is sensational by every definition of the word. It is unparalled beauty, grace and motion under-water! While completely submerged, Diven is bathed in vari-colored lights, is lushly upholstered yet so eloquently revealing, and presents a most exotic portrait of under-water disrobing."

Harold B. Cohen, noted drama critic of the Pittsburg Post-Gazette: "That is quite an act Divena has at the Carousel — striking novelty, handsomely produced and in exquisite good taste. . . Divena makes a luscious dish, too, swimming around in her small tank and, by the way, she is packing the room nightly."

Irv Kupcinet in the famous 'Kup"s column in the Chicago Sun-Times: "You must see the nautical, but nice Divena!—it's sensash!"

Glenn C. Pullen, renowned drama critic in the Cleveland Plain Dealer: "Divena and her intimate aquatic act are making what showmen term a 'terrific splash' at the Sky Bar to the vast envy of rival impressarios. They are jampacking the big east side club where Divena stages a strangely fascinating exhibition. . . . Divena has as many curves as Hollywood's Esther Williams and doesn't hide any of them. Miss Williams couldn't' get away with the brief excuse of a swim suit that this luscious charmer displays after she zips off a formal gown under water. She does it so gracefully while floating around the tiny tank like a fabulous mermaid. In case you wonder how she stays under water ten minutes—we won't tell you. See this gorgeous act for yourself."

George Jackson, the Los Angeles Herald-Express: "It is the novelty scoop of the season—a pretty act in more ways than one."

Luis Amado in the Havana Survey ecstacied: "Divena is here on lend-lease, and we won't give her back! She is glorious."

And Walter Winchell's succinct: "Divena is the newest excitement in show business."

Only space limitations prohibit the hundred and one other raves in Divena's press book, yet it is only fitting that Divena herself is quoted, and to quote: "There is nothing new under the sun; but under water—Ah! that is different."

U. M. T. Plan Ready Soon But Effective Date Just A Guess

(In the next two months the National Security Training Commission will send Congress an overall plan for Universal Military Training (UMT). Chairman of the five-man commission is James W. Wadsworth, former New York Senator and Representative and longtime advocate of UMT. Associated Press Washington reporter David O. Tyson interviewed Wadsworth on the outlook for UMT. His questions and Wadsworth's answers follow.)

Question: Mr. Wadsworth, certain features of UMT are already written into the new draft law. Could you outline them?

Answer: We know training will be for six months. Men will become liable for induction into the National Security Training corps (NSTC) when they reach 18 and those 17 may volunteer for induction with their parents' consent. Physical and mental standards will probably be the same as those for the armed forces in January 1945. Trainees' pay will be $30 a month, but those with dependents may have an additional allowance.

Q: What is the function of the National Security Training Commission?

A: First, we must recommend to Congress an overall program of training which is essentially military. Congress made it clear the training should not be loaded up with what might be called outside study. It also wants our recommendations with respect to a code of conduct for maintaining discipline and morale in the training camps.

Then, we're to recommend legislation to protect the health and morals of these youngsters. Finally, recommendations for death and disability benefits for those who die or are injured during the six months training.

Reach All Services

Q: Will the training be given by all the services or just the Army?

A: All the services, including the Marine Corps. That's clearly the intent of the law.

Q: Will the commission have control over the training itself?

A: No. Details are left to the services. But the commission may make recommendations to the Secretary of Defense or the Congress concerning the safety, health, welfare and morals of the trainees. We must have a staff of inspectors to keep informed on how camps and stations are getting along. They'll check up on health, morals, conduct, good, clothing—everything.

Q: Will Congress keep an eye on the training?

A: The act requires us to report to Congress every six months, and we may make recommendations more often then that.

Q: How long will trainees be under the jurisdiction of your commission?

A: Our jurisdiction ends the day these youngsters leave camp and are transferred to the armed forces. Of course, we'll be unofficially interested in what happens to them after that. The law says they must put in 7½ years' reserve service after their six months' training.

The House is now holding hearings on a bill to reorganize the reserves. We're intensely interested in how the reserve is set up so we'll know how to prepare the youngsters to go into it.

Q: When does the commission expect to make its recommendations to Congress?

A: The deadline is October 29 under the law. I can't give the exact date, but I can say we'll beat that. We're making good progress.

Q: How would measures for the trainees' safety, health, welfare and morals differ from those for servicemen now?

A: Speaking personally, I think they'll be very similar, but I can't commit the commission. Trainees will be in charge of a post commander 24 hours a day. His responsibility for their safety, health, etc. will not be confined to the daily training period.

Q: Can you say yet whether trainees will come under the new servicemen's free life insurance or have reemployment rights or benefits similar to those of the GI bill?

A: I can't say. That's for the commission and Congress to decide.

Q: How many training periods will there be each year?

A: We've had suggestions that they start semi-annually, quarterly, monthly and even weekly. Also that the training be given during two three-month periods spread over consecutive summers. In making our choice we must figure on the overall cost, the load of youngsters to be carried, equipment and facilities available, number of instructors needed and how it might disrupt the trainee's education or occupation.

Q: Will draft boards deliver trainees to the NSTC as they now deliver draftees to the armed forces?

A: There's no doubt about that. Selective Service is the only available machinery. After all, it's most closely associated with the boys in their communities. It wouldn't be practical to set up a parallal organization.

Q: Will draft regulations on deferments and exemptions apply to trainees?

A: Very probably. But not so many 18-year-olds would get deferments for occupation and dependency. They aren't so settled in jobs and family life at that age

No Estimate On Deferred

Q: Just how universal will the training then be? What proportion will be deferred?

A: We have no estimates on the numbers who may be deferred on hardship grounds. But the crop of more than 1,100,000 males who turn 18 each year will yield about 850,000 able-bodied men.

Q: Do you believe UMT has now been generally accepted, or do you think opposition may still develop when your recommendations go up to Congress?

A: My personal opinion is that it's generally accepted. There will always be come opposition. But since Congress made its decision on the UMT principle, I think it's clear the people realize UMT is necessary and why. Personally, I'm disappointed we didn't adopt it years ago. A large well-trained reserve would have saved us much of the expense of keeping a large standing force. We can't get a reserve overnight, so we'd better get started.

Q: What action may Congress take on the commission's recommendations?

A: They'll go to the two armed services committees, largely in the form of legislation. The committees will have 45 successive calendar days to consider the legislation. They may recommend adoption outright or adoption with amendments, but the bill will be "privileged," it can be called to the floor by any member of either house. In other words, they can't have a filibuster.

Q: What is the earliest possible date Congress could enact it?

A: That depends on how long this session stays at work. The committees' 45 days must be successive days. December would be the most optimistic possibility. If, however, Congress recesses this fall, the bill may go over to the second session, which convenes next January.

Q: After enactment what must be done to put UMT into effect?

A: When the President thinks conditions are ripe for UMT he pushes a button. He does it by reducing the present 24-month period of service for draftees under 19. On that date those under 19 become liable for inductin into the NSTC. Congress may do the same thing by concurrent resolution, but it seems likely Congress will leave it to the President to decide.

Q: What you'd have then is the younger men, largely between 18 and 19, being inducted for six months' training while the older men were still being inducted for 24 months' service?

A: That would be a possibility It would take a few years to build up a reserve, even if there were UMT. So the hope and intent of Congress is that the draft will be abandoned step by step and UMT put into effect on a larger and larger scale.

Q: When will world conditions permit us to reduce the period of service so UMT can start?

A: Nobody knows. But one fact is apparent. UMT can be conducted on a large scale only at such time as the country can afford to reduce its standing military forces. Prior to such a time, it may be possible to conduct UMT on a small scale concurrently with the draft.

Iranian Crisis May Unlock New Oil in Canada as the Experts Seek Way to Tap The Alberta Tar Sands

By JAMES MONTAGNES
NEA Special Correspondent

TORONTO — (NEA) — Great Britain's oil difficulties in Iran may unlock new oil fields in western Canada.

British oil experts including British Mines Minister George Prudham, have been traveling to the end of the railway in Alberta to look over the possibilities of a new source of oil. Early in September, experts from Great Britain and Canada will sit down at Edmonton to iron out problems of production and financing.

The first white men to travel in western Canada in 1788 found oil bubbling out of the ground along the Athabaska river, about 250 miles north of Edmonton. It has been bubbling to the surface in various spots ever since in an area a little larger than the state of Connecticut.

But little of that oil has gone into making fuel, because it is mixed with sand. How to get the sand and the oil separated at a reasonable cost has been the problem that has stumped the leading oil engineers of North America.

There's a railway that runs north from Edmonton to Fort McMurray on the Athabaska river, down which Indians and trappers have come for hundreds of years with fur. Along the sandy bluffs of the river and its tributaries there are no settlements. Prairie grass and shrubs cover the area. And underneath that overburden lie sands many feet deep impregnated with oil.

For more than 30 years there have been commercial attempts made to get the sand and the oil separated. One company has a small pilot plant in operation on several thousand acres, and has been extracting some oil for over 10 years. Some of the material has been used to pave roads in Canada's famed scenic Jasper National park. During World War II the Canadian government spent many millions trying to find a quick way of getting the sand and the oil separated.

Mining engineers, including experts from the U. S. Bureau of Mines, estimate that the Athabaska tar sands contain anywhere from 100 to 250 billion barrels of oil, enough oil to supply the English-speaking world for several generations.

Unlike other oil reservoirs, such as those of Iran, the oil does not collect in pools to be pumped out. There are small pools, but for the most part the oil has to be extracted from the soil.

Toronto oil engineer Dr. S. M. Blair sees two possible methods of getting the oil and sand separated at a cost to compete with oil from other Alberta oil fields.

The oil can be worked out by open pit mining, taking the sand by truck to the oil extracting plant, as is now being done by one company. The problem that remains is how to get rid of the mountains of sand after the oil has been extracted. There is about one barrel of oil to each cubic yard of tar sands. To operate commercially the extraction process would have to produce at least 20,000 barrels of oil a day.

Besides the open pit method, which means stripping the land bare, Blair suggests a method of underground mining. This requires tunnels in the rock formation under the tar sands, hundreds of feet deep, placing conveyor belts in the tunnels, and shooting steam into the tunnels. Openings drilled into the tunnel roof would allow the steam-treated sand to drop onto the conveyor belts and be taken to the extraction plant.

In addition to oil, the sand also contains sulphur and rare strategic metals such as vanadium. These could also be extracted after the oil has been removed. Samples taken from the tar sands show that there is enough sulphur content in one square mile to supply 15 per cent of the world's annual sulphur consumption. With sulphur currently in short supply, this is an added incentive to development of the tar sands.

Problem for Great Britain is to finance the development of the Athabaska tar sands if engineers find the latest methods of extracting oil satisfactory.

But there is ample optimism in Canada that the Dominion will become Great Britain's major supplier of oil, now that Iran has posed so many problems for Britain in the nationalization of the oil resources.

Matches Sent to 'See The Light'

OSWEGO, N. Y., Aug. 18—(AP)—The Matchworkers Union (AFL) is sending a case of matches to Korea with the hope they will help Communist truce negotiators "see the light."

Fred Kloonan, president of a local here, announced the matches are being air expressed to Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, the chief U. N. delegate at cease-fire talks.

Kloonan made public a message to Joy suggesting that the Admiral give them to Lt. Nam Il, chief negotiator for the North Koreans. He noted press reports that Nam Il became irritated when his Communist-made matches spluttered as he tried to light cigarettes.

The message added:

"Also reported in his delight and improved mood after obtaining a box of American made matches from the truce conference table.

"Products made by free men under a competitive economy will always be of high quality and superior to those of regimented slave labor.

"With the thought that they might demonstrate this point if presented by you to General Nam Il we are sending you air express a case of good American matches for this purpose.

"They will light every time and who knows but what they will help the General to see the light."

Bursitis, Injury to Joint Tissue, Easier to Avoid Than Cure

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

"Please tell me the difference between arthritis and bursitis," writes Mrs. J. L. Stated briefly arthritis is an inflammation of the tissues of a joint proper while bursitis is an inflammation of a small pocket lined with delicate tissue which lies near one of the joints. But a little more can be said about bursitis since it is a common affliction.

"Housemaid's knee, is a form of bursitis. The pocket or bursa involved lies just back of the knee cap. It is the result of injury, and as the name implies was comparatively common among those who spent a good part of their time on their knees scrubbing floors. Another form of bursitis occurs near the elbow and is commonly called "tennis elbow." This also is the result of a sort of injury to the bursa from overuse.

There ar eother bursas in other places—all of which have perfectly proper scientific names—and they can all become inflamed. As in the two forms mentioned the most common cause of bursitis is injury, either from repeated small injuries or one big one. Quite often, too, the signs of bursitis start suddenly with a good deal of pain and discomfort as anyone who has had it can testify. Frequently the area around it is tender, and motion of the neighboring joint produces a good deal of pain.

Bursitis is often easier to avoid than to cure. However, what to do for it once it has started is quite a problem. During the acute stage rest is particularly important and in order to make this as complete as necessary a cast, splint, or bandage is often used. Heat often relieves some of the pain and tenderness. Sometimes part of the pain is the result of pressure from fluid, and consequently the doctor may want to draw some of this off through a needle.

Chronic Cases

The acute phase of the bursitis subsides in time but sometimes it turns into a chronic condition. This is distressing because too often a chronic bursitis resists all sorts of treatment. Deep X-ray helps some; injection of certain fluids help others. In resistant cases it may even be necessary to operate and remove most of the inflamed lining. Fortunately the really bad cases of chronic bursitis are in the minority.

Dr. Jordan will answer questions from his readers in a special column once a week. Watch for it.

Your New

Social Security

Question: How do you report your household workers?

Answer: On a simple and brief report form, furnished to household employers by the United States Collector of Internal Revenue. The household employer fills in the name and social security number of the worker, and the amount of cash wages paid to the employee during that quarter. This report is sent quarterly to the Collector of Internal Revenue together with the tax on the worker's wages. The tax until 1954 is 3 per cent—one-half to be deducted from the cash wages, one-half contributed by the household employer.

Question: May household workers be reported with other employees?

Answer: Yes. If the household employer is already making social security reports (Form 941) as sole owner of a business or professional practice, the houseworker may be reported on that form together with his nonhousehold employees. If the husband of the household employer is the sole owner of a business or professional practice, the report on his wife's household worker may be included in the report on his business employees sent from his office.

Question: If a household employee leaves before working on 24 different days in a calendar quarter, and did not work on 24 days in the preceding quarter, what should the employer do about the tax?

Answer: If, by agreement with the worker, the tax has been withheld from her weekly cash wages up to the time of leaving, it should be refunded. It will not be necessary to send in a report on her wages.

(For further information call or write your social Security office, 511 South Ohio, Sedalia, Mo., Phone 450. Ask for Booklet No. 35.)

Republican Report Lambastes Administration's East Policy

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON.—It will throw a political bombshell into the Korean truce talks, but Republican Senators have written an explosive report denouncing a possible truce settlement at the 38th parallel as a "victory for aggression" and a "surrender in disguise."

The report also lambastes the administration's Far Eastern policy as the "most desolate failure in the history of our foreign policy."

This scalding, 60-page report is the GOP answer to the MacArthur investigation. Seven Republican members of the MacArthur investigating committee have already pledged to sign it. They are Senators Brewster of Maine, Bridges of New Hampshire, Cain of Washington, Hickenlooper of Iowa, Knowland of California, Smith of New Jersey, and Wiley of Wisconsin. An eighth, Senator Flanders of Vermont, has indicated he will sign but hasn't given a final answer.

The two Massachusetts Senators, Lodge and Saltonstall, are willing to sign with reservations, and are now preparing their amendments. In addition, the Republicans, are proselyting four southern Democrats—Byrd of Virginia, Long of Louisiana, Russell of Georgia, and Stennis of Mississippi—in an attempt to get some Democrats to join them.

Though minor corrections are still being made, the first draft of the report has already been run off the presses. Thus, its official release may coincide with the most delicate stages of the Korean truce negotiations.

On this subject, the GOP report denounces a cessation of hostilities based on the 38th parallel, and warns again "Munich-like respites which are only surrender in disguise."

As for General MacArhur, who started the whole controversy, the report agrees that President Truman had the constitutional right to fire him, but asserts that the circumstances were a "shock to the national pride."

The report also upholds MacArthur's contention that there was "no serious disagreement" between him and the Joint Chiefs of Staff on Korean military strategy.

However, the most blistering language is used to describe President Truman's Far Eastern policy which the Republicans call a "catastrophic failure" and a "desolate failure." The only exception they are willing to admit was MacArthur-ruled Japan.

In fact, they denounce American foreign policy since the middle 1940's as "based on expediency rather than the principles of liberty and justice."

The report adds strongly that the United States should never again become involved in war without the consent of Congress. This is a crack at the Korean "police action," which was approved by Congressional leaders but never formally voted as a "declaration of war."

The report also pays tribute to the "gallantry" of the American boys who saw action in Korea, describes the MacArthur inquiry as in the "public interest," and praises chairman Russell of Georgia for his fairness.

In answer to the GOP report, it is almost certain now that the Democrats will come out with a report of their own. It is known that the White House has been urging Senator McMahon of Connecticut to take the lead in writing one.

First note: It is an interesting sidelight that Senator Brewster brought word to the Republican Senators from General MacArthur that he would be satisfied with no report at all.

Second note: The only two Republicans who have been left out of the backstage talks over the MacArthur report are Tobeyof New Hhampshire and Morse of Oregon. The official excuse is that both are on sick leave from the Senate. The truth is, however, that both are almost certain to go along with the Democrats on the MacArthur issue.

Stamps . . .

In the News

By Syd Kronish

The United Nations postage stamps will soon be available to stamp collectors. Illustrations of the first designs have been released by th UN offices. All the designs will have the text "United Nations" in the five official languages of the world organization English, Chinese, French, Russian and Spanish.)

The first group is expected to be issued in October. The stamps will be issued in three groups with an interval of approximately three weeks between groups.

The regular issue of 11 stamps will include the following denominations: 1 cent, 1½c, 2c, 3c, 5c, 10c, 25c, 50c and $1. The airmails will be 6 cents, 10c, 15c and 25 c. This face value of the complete series is $2.88½.

Bertil A. Renborg, Chief of the UN Postal Administration, says it will be possible for collectors to purchase whole sheets, pairs, blocks and marginal inscriptions. All stamps, including those containing marginal inscriptions, will be sold at face value.

Collectors desiring these issues may address their orders to United Nations Postal Administration, United Nations, N.Y. Remittances to cover the orders should be made payable to the United Nations, N.Y.

The first three designs are as follows, 1½ cent green and 50 cent blue—UN Headquarters building with a background of the UN world symbol; 2 cent blue and $1 carmine—a banner citing "peace, justice and security" wrapped around the UN symbol. The 5 cent blue, dedicated to the UN International Children's Emergency Fund, depicts a small child's hand.

XII

As Alan came up, there was Vroom, monstrously treading water, holding his bundle at shoulder height, as a man might hold a heavy weapon. A bundle of something hard and heavy enough that if a blow had landed it would have crushed a man's skull. A rip in the cloth showed scintillations of green light, washed clean now in the river.

"The emerald hoopoe, eh?" Alan bubbled thickly as he kept out of reach. Vroom, clutching the precious weapon, tried to gain support of the upturned canoe.

Alan paddled closer and kicked Vroom's stomach. Underwater it was not much more than a shove, but it drew a grunt from Vroom. One great arm over the canoe, clutching the knotted cloth to support its weight, Vroom chopped the other fist a Alan. It fell on Alan's shoulder with force enough to warn him that he could risk nothing with this man. Alan paddled clear. Vroom was encouraged enough to shove off after him, thrusting his bundle again, like a club. Too heavy for fast maneuvering, it missed.

"Don't forget," said Alan. "I came to kill you."

"You kill me?" Vroom spoke derisively. "But you could perhaps escape me and be a nuisance. So verree well, I buy you off. Americans always sell for money, isn't it?"

"And if for nothing else," Allan grinned as his hand had found a weapon, "I'll kill you just for that."

Alan's hand fished out a weapon from under the canoe—a crude long-handled paddle that had lodged in the airspace. Alan slid it with all the force of his arm, along the water's surface at Vroom's face. Teeth crunched Vroom bubbled a crushed, red-stained cry, lurching his body away, his arm, holding the bundle, slid off the canoe.

Alan plowed after him and felt his own legs frantically clutched. A snatch at the canoe's bottom enabled him to drag in a lungful of air before the weight at his legs pulled him under.

The water became colder with depth. Alan kicked frantically, and one leg was free. He stamped. Then suddenly the quick, weighted descent stopped. The thing that dragged was gone. Two hands clawed at Alan's legs, worked their way higher. The precious bundle, weighted with jewels, had been let go.

Alan felt grimly confident. He had taken a breath before going under. Vroom had not.

* * *

Alan bent himself to reach the clutching hands. Not to tear them loose; to drag closer the head that was at the other end of them; to buffet at it as well as he might against water resistance. A great hand was feeling for his face. It's palm found a hold under his nose and the fingers gouged at his eyes. He bit at flesh that pressed against his mouth. The hand let go. Alan kicked at whatever he could feel. How great a store of air had there been in the fellow's huge lungs when he bubbled and went under?

But then the clawing, clutching hands began to slip away; to slide limply down his chest, hooking momentarily on a button and tearing it loose; gliding oozily reluctantly down the threshing legs.

Alan came up out of the murk; out of the colder deeps; up into warm water and sunlight. The canoes floated serenely as though nothing had happened more serious than a holiday boating upset. Both paddles remained invitingly near. Alan retrieved one, turned a canoe over, rocked it fore and aft to spill water and rolled in. He sat searching the surface. Nothing else came up. It would do that later, without any cloth-wrapped bundle. "If he'd let go of his confounded bird sooner he'd have had me licked and I'd be the one down in the muck."

On the shore was a concourse of men waiting. Some of them his Fang-ducs, some wounded and crudely bandaged, some missing. Some were teak coolies. The Fang-duc men joked like successful hunters. "They were so silly," they said. "When they stopped shooting and we got into the house they were all dead."

Alan beckoned the men to follow him down to the launch. He told the interpreter to explain in simple language.

"Tell 'em that the police will find out about this and they'll come up and investigate and make trouble for everybody. I'll be clear away by then. So these boys had better be away too. I have for each one a backsheesh of 20 piastres—that's almost two years pay for 'em. Tell 'em to get back into their jungles and change their names and get lost. You too. You get 40. I'll take the launch down and think up a good lie on the way." He laughed as happily as the jungle men over their bonanza. "I'll say a green dragon with glass marble eyes came out of the woods and put the holy scare into 'em and they up and ran. Everybody'll believe that here."

* * *

Since he didn't want to tell any more of the grim truth to Lucy Villiers he told her that same lie too. "And that's how come," he said, "I couldn't bring you back a hoopoe."

She said, "You did better than that. You brought me back a crazy American."

She let Alan fiercely hug her too. He said, "So then I'll make a deal. If you'll shamelessly desert your patient, I'll let you kiss him goodby instead of me, and let's get the blazes out of here before they catch us."

"You mean," she said, her nose wrinkling in that kitten way, "you'll let this poor little country fight Communism with just its own army from now on?"

"I'll let my uncle help 'em," Alan grinned.

Margaret Turns 21

'Europe's Prettiest Princess' Comes of Age

"Gay, vivacious, mischievous, charming" — these are the adjectives most frequently used to describe Her Royal Highness, Princess Margaret Rose, second daughter of England's King George VI and Queen Elizabeth, who celebrates her 21st birthday August 21. Here are camera glimpses of the life of the "kid sister" of the future British queen. Now, Princess Margaret, an attractive brownette, with blue eyes and lustrous complexion, comes of age, gets an annual allowance of about $20,000 and steps up her schedule of official court duties. As she turns 21, the question of possible romances and future marriage is one of increasing interest and speculation.

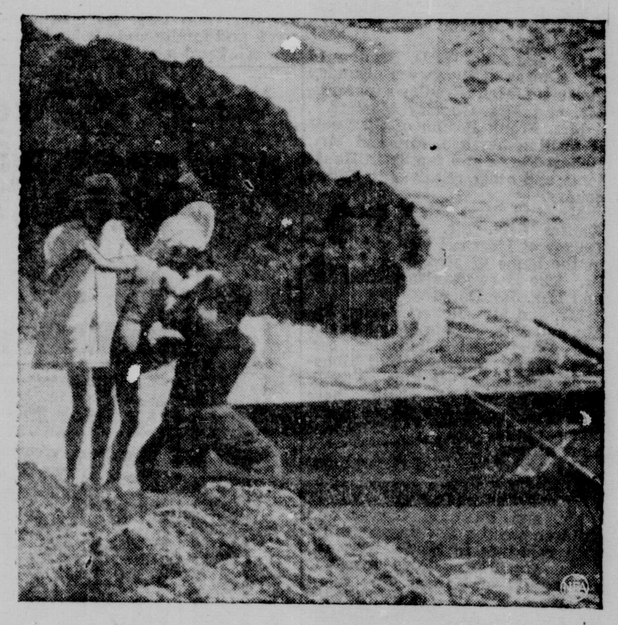
Plunging neckline. Margaret has shocked staid Britishers in this and other ways. Her ambition, once, was to be the world's best-dressed woman.

At the coronation of King George VI, in 1937, Margaret was an impish six-year-old. More carefree and adventurous than her sister, Elizabeth—four years and four months her senior—Princess Margaret was always a palace favorite. Sometimes she wore Elizabeth's hand-me-downs.

Two pretty princesses — one eight, one twelve — were Margaret Rose and Elizabeth, making a royal appearance at Buckingham palace. Since earliest childhood, both girls were schooled in their duties as princesses. Margaret became an excellent linguist, pianist (inclined toward boogie-woogie) and sportswoman.

Riding at Windsor Castle — a favorite recreation of the Royal family. Margaret likes swimming, too, but prefers ballroom dancing most of all.

Fashion plate. A whim of Margaret's can change the empire's fashions. Once she told Elizabeth: "You mind your old empire; let me mind my hats."



British royalty was stunned in 1949 when this picture from the Isle of Capri showed Margaret in a scanty bathing suit. Some British editors feared she was nude — but it was only a quirk of lighting effect. Other stories from the tour of Italy told of late and rollicking parties.

Dancing a camba. The Princess' gay night-life is a subject of much comment. Her reported can-can at American embassy party sparked real controversy.

Suitors? Some London newspapers say Princess Margaret will announce her engagement to Billy Wallace, 24-year-old polo-playing British blueblood, with whom she's seen at Ascot racing events. Others think best bet is Lord Dalkeith (inset), immensely wealthy heir to the dukedom of Buccleuch.

Cultivation of coffee was introduced to the western hemisphere by the governor of Jamaica in 1718.

Danny Kaye warns pretty Constance Dowling not to reveal their plans to Dana Andrews in the exciting fun-filled musical comedy in color by Technicolor, "Up In Arms," now playing at the Liberty. Also featured are Louis Calhern and the glamorous Goldwyn Girls. The co-hit is the funniest hit Bob Hope and Dorothy Lamour ever made, "They Got Me Covered."

Swing Magazine Carries Story On The Fair

"Meet Me In Sedalia" is the title of a story about the 49th Missouri State Fair written by Carl McIntire which appeared in the August issue of Swing, the magazine published by WHB.

McIntire, publicity man for the Missouri State Fair this year, has done a wonderful job of spreading the highlights of this big annual event all over everywhere. He has sent out story after story and they having been getting into print.

His little feature story in Swing describes the Fair from horse races to grandmother's strawberry preserves and he cleverly brings in each and every interest at the Fair putting stress on the outstanding features.

The main things at the fair, he points out, are horses and people with accent on the people. From all walks of life from the dirt cross roads of the state and from the cities will be Missourians he says, judging each other but most will look through the eyes of friendliness and fraternity.

Yes, "Meet Me at the Fair" is going to be the slogan this summer for all Missourians interested in seeing, hearing and learning their state, a great state, and having the time of their lives while finding out!, concludes the McIntire story and knowing fair goers as we do we know he is right.

Thrill Climax To State Fair

WITH cut 2-Col ..... hou dglw-....

A thrilling climax to the Missouri State Fair will be Joie Chitwood in person and his Daredevils in two hours of spine-tingling feats of death-defying daring Sunday night August 26.

An addition to the Chitwood Daredevils is Jack Huber, parachutist who is a sensational thriller. Huber can account for more than 200 successful jumps. His daylight jumps are from a three-mile height but his night performance is from a lesser height and with lights on his body to mark his trail. His delayed parachute stunt is considered among airmen as the most difficult of all air stunts.

The Chitwood show has come in for much publicity in connection with motion picture and television shows. The same show was featured in "To Please A Lady" with Clark Gable and Barbara Stanwyck.

Take Awards At Ozarks Fair

According to the officials of the Ozark Empire Fair at Springfield Holstein breeders of the mid-west staged the largest Holstein show in the history of the fair.

The show which was presented Thursday was judged by Prof. F. M. Ateckson, head of the dairy department of Kansas University, who termed it a splendid show.

A Missouri exhibition from Pettis county, the Ernest and Paul Selken Farms of Smithton, came away with the lion's share of the awards in the show with the grand champion bull, junior champion female, senior champion bull, first junior yearling bull, first produce of dam, first aged bull, first heifer calf, first yearling heifer and first prize junior get of sire.

Over World Crimes Now To The Fore

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK,—(AP)—To the Hon. Trygve Lie, secretary general, the United Nations.

Dear Mr. Lie:

The other day a friend took me into a fashionable men's bar in Manhattan. It is as exclusive as $1 a drink can make it.

As we stood gulping ketchup, two middle-aged men dressed with conservative elegance entered and took a place at the bar beside us.

"Know who they are?" whispered my friend.

"Probably a couple of stockbrokers."

"Stockbrokers nothing!" my friend whispered, even lower. "They're about the two biggest gangsters in America. They really run the underworld, and they hang out here every afternoon."

Well, Mr. Lie, the two men ordered a fine old brandy. And as they sipped it I couldn't help overhearing their conversation. I thought it might interest you. But on account of I am a cautious man, I am going to call them Mr. Manicure and Mr. Mustache—instead of their real names.

"I'm worried about the way the world is going today," began Mr. Manicure.

"Yes, indeed, I know what you mean," said Mr. Mustache. "Nothing but violence, violence—everywhere. It's shocking."

"Why don't they get organized upstairs like we did downstairs?" continued Mr. Manicure. "It would be a happier world. There would be no gunplay. Everybody could sit down, talk over how to cut up the pie, take his own piece, and go home to his wife and kids."

"I know what you mean," mused Mr. Mustache. "It's cheaper for everybody to make a living by cooperating. That way everybody could have a car and a summer home and eat and drink in the best places. Live and let live, I say."

Mr. Manicure nodded morosely and cuddled his brandy glass in his soft white hands.

"We learned from the old Chicago days there's no profit in rough stuff," he said. "It taught us reality. Harsh actions are really uncommercial in the long run. But, internationally, people still seem to prefer to live in the jungle. Don't they know they'll never have peace until they organize and cut all the cheap competition?"

Just then a small mousy drunk—he looked like a bookkeeper on a spree—wandered in. He pushed woozily in between the two men and mumbled, "move over, bums."

Well, believe me, Mr. Lie, I really held my breath. Nobody shoved gangsters around like that in the 1920's.

But Mr. Manicure merely moved away distastefully. And Mr. Mustache just lifted a finger and pointed. The bartender saw the finger, and made a signal. Then two big house detectives moved in, lifted up the little drunk gently, and carried him out.

"They should catch boors at the door," murmured Mr. Manicure.

"Yes, this place is getting rundown," replied his colleague.

"Getting back to our subject," said Mr. Manicure. "If we have another international war it may upset our own apple cart. These so-called statesmen are away behind us in organization. It's a crime, really a crime.

"Somtimes I think we ought to move in upstairs—just to protect ourselves. If we took over everybody would get a fairer shake of the dice. And there wouldn't be all this violence. What do you think?"

"H-m-m-m-m-m," said Mr. Mustache, thoughtfully. "I'm glad to see you thinking along those lines. First, we'd have to—."

Well, Mr. Lie, they dropped their voices then, and I couldn't hear any more. But I thought you might want to know. They couldn't really do what they say, could they?"

Sincerely,
Wilbur Peeble, patroit.

Stag Blimp To Flash Newscasts

The Stag blimp, an aerial monster with a flashing newscast board underneath, will visit the fair on Saturday, August 25—but will never get to the fairgrounds.

Because it takes so much space for the man-carrying balloon to take off and land, there was no place nearer Sedalia than the Municipal Airport for the blimp to mour. A portable mouring stand will be brought in and installed at the airport for the flights during the day.

Announcements by the fair, by Stag and regular newscasts of national and world news will be flashed to the crowds at the fair and to the people of Sedalia on the lighted sign.

Champion high school drivers of Missouri, who won their titles this spring, will give demonstrations of their driving skill on Saturday, August 18, at the Missouri State Fair in Sedalia.
